Probers Hear Chairman Of Loyalty Board

Brig. Gen. Snow Knows Of No Reds In State Department

By WILLIAM THEIS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The head of the State Department's loyalty board declared under oath today that he knows of no Communists in the department.

Brig. Gen. Conrad Snow made the statement in testimony before the Senate subcommittee investigating charges by Sen. McCarthy (R) Wis., that the department is a hotbed of Communists and Communist sympathizers.

Snow said that between 1947, when the lohyalty program began, and March 1, 1950, his loyalty security board reached determinations on 246 cases.

Two "Security Risks"

Of that number, he continued, two employees were found to be "security risks" and five resigned while the charges against them were pending. Then he said flatly:

"If there are any Communists in the State Department, the loyalty security board is uninformed of their existence."

The loyalty board chairman said that of the 246 cases determined by his board, 199 were "post audited' by the overall loyalty review board, headed by Seth Richardson. He added:

'Out of the 199 cases Post audited, three cases have been remanded for an interrogatory, one case has been remanded for a hearing, and no cases have been reversed."

Snow asserted that the department's own security standards are "much stricter" than those prescribed for the government's general loyalty program.

Explains Standards

He explained that the security standards, set up in 1947 and still followed, label not only Communists and their sympathizers as security risks, but also "persons who have habitual or close association with such persons, so as to justify the conclusion that they might voluntarily divulge classified information without authority."

Snow said that his board always

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Just about every kind of weather one could wish for has been experienced during the past 24 hours. Yesterday afternoon, summery temperatures were experienced, along with a thunderstorm. This morning, the temperature had dropped almost to the freezing point and it snowed. What more could one ask for.

* * *

Local residents were expecting some sort of a twister around 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The storm moving in from the west blackened the skies pitching the city into almost complete darkness. The heavy accompanying rain washed away much top soil and debris onto city streets. Fortunately, little wind came along with the storm.

Truman's Farm Proposals Are Sharply Repudiated

By SAM FOGG
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Rep. Cooley (D) N. C., chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, sharply repudiated today President Truman's farm proposals, charging he seeks to "junk" the present program.

Cooley, in formal statement, took the chief executive to task in a point-by-point reply to the farm message sent to Congress this week by Mr. Truman, which asked a new attempt to pass the Brannan plan.

Split In Dem Ranks

The attack by the ranking House spokesman on agriculture gave evidence of a split in Democratic party ranks over the Brannan plan as a campaign issue this fall.

A year ago, Cooley backed legislation which would have authorized a trial run for the latter proposal. In defending the existing price support program in his statement today, Cooley commented:

"The only alternative which Congress is offered . . . is one which apparently contemplates the 'junking' of the principles of the whole present program and the acceptance of an entirely new program based primarily on the principles of a consumer subsidy."

Assails Message

The North Carolinian assailed the presidential message as "a vehicle for a general condemnation of the present farm program."

Cooley said he would be willing to consider specific proposals from the president or Secretary Brannan to improve the present price support legislation rather than a plan "based upon wholly new and untried concepts."

The Brannan plan, which met defeat in both the House and Senate last year, would allow farm commodities to reach consumers at a reduced "open market" price and authorize "production payment" subsidies to the farmers for their losses.

Move To Revoke Citizenship Of Harry Bridges

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, April 5—(INS)—The Justice Department said today the government plans to move on Monday to revoke the American citizenship of Harry Bridges, western coast longshoreman leader convicted of perjury.

Department spokesmen explained that under the law the court in which a naturalized citizen is convicted of a felony, such as perjury, has the power to cancel his citizenship papers.

Such a revocation of citizenship would be a necessary preliminary to the deportation of any naturalized citizen.

The department, however, refused to comment on whether it will mave to have Bridges deported or when such action might be taken. Department officials said the government would undoubtedly wait until after sentence is pronounced to initiate any such proceedings.

The Nebraska Republican, who urges a contempt cittalon against the administration, demanded that the committee "take every remedial step necessary" to carry the Senate mandate for a complete inquiry.

His statement came as the loyalty investigators called the State Department loyalty board and chairman Seth Richardson of the Civil Service loyalty review board to testify publicly on their "procedures."

Squire Has Heart Attack After Shooting

SOMERSET, Pa., April 5.—(INS)—Justice of the Peace Charles J. Harrison, Jr., was reported in a critical condition today from a heart attack that followed an argument in which a nearby Boswell coal operator was shot to death.

Somerset County Sheriff Karl I. Hare, said Joseph M. Deist, 47, was killed in the front hallway of the Harrison's home, and that he was awaiting a doctor's approval before questioning the stricken squire.

Angered Over Bail

In a telephone conversation prior to the killing, according to Sheriff Hare, Deist became angry when the squire set bail at $2,000 on charges of desertion, non-support, surety of the peace and assault and battery.

The charges were filed by Deist's estranged wife yesterday afternoon.

Police said Deist told the squire: "I'm coming to get you."

Deliberations Of Jury Last Eleven Hours

Defense Claimed Death Of College Girl Accidental

By PATRICIA BRONTE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

IOWA CITY, Ia., April 5.—Robert Bednasek, University of Iowa senior student in abnormal psychology, was acquitted today of a first degree murder charge in the "campus tragedy" death of Margaret Ann (Gee Gee) Jackson, his coed sweetheart.

The verdict was returned at 9:28 a. m. (CST) by a jury of four women and eight men in the Johnson county district courtroom at Iowa City where the trial began March 14.

Death On December 11

Miss Jackson was found dead last December 11 in a room at the "Empty Arms" lodging house for men students at the university. She was a student in psychology at Iowa U.

Bednasek stood rigid as the jury foreman, Robert D. Bothell, read the verdict. As Bothell read the words, "not guilty," Bednasek fell backwards into his chair in relief and smiled.

Chief Defense Counsel Clair Hamilton bowed his head on the defense table in the small courtroom. Bednasek arose from his chair, and stepped over to Hamilton. He also bowed his head and both sobbed for a few moments.

The jury's verdict was reached after approximately eleven hours of deliberation. It received the case at 10 a. m. (CST) yesterday.

Mother Not In Court

Bednasek's mother, Mrs. Olga Bednasek of Cedar Rapids, Ia., who has sat nearby her son throughout the trial, was not in court when her husky son was acquitted. Instead, Mrs. Bednasek waited for the news in the office of Hamilton.

The student's father, Emil Bednasek, left Iowa City Monday for his home. He had attended the

Huge Field House Will Be Erected At Westminster

Memorial Field House in honor of Westminster students who served in two world wars.

Will Provide For Spectators

Completion of the building will afford the public their first real opportunity to see the Titan team in action. The present gymnasium has room for less than 100 spectators after student and faculty seats are filled. The new field house will provide space for approximately 3,500 spectators in addition to student seating.

The new facilities will mean that the nation's top basketball teams can now be scheduled by Westminster. Inadequate seating facilities in the present gymnasium has made it finally impossible to schedule the larger schools in the past. Coach Grover C. Washabaugh, who this year turned out one of the outstanding teams in the history of the college, has indicated that a number of name teams will be scheduled for the fall basketball season.

Complete In Four Months

Tom Mansell of New Wilmington, chairman of the field house committee of the college board of trustees, said plans are to attempt to complete the field house in four months. He estimated it would require two months to ship the materials to the college and another two months to put up the structure.

A campaign for funds to finance the new structure will get underway tomorrow. Joseph Hopkins of the Westminster faculty will head the drive. It is expected that receipts from basketball games will pay for a part of the construction costs.

Although the primary aim is to have the field house in readiness for next season's basketball play, other facilities for indoor sports will be added later. The large field house will provide adequate physical education facilities for the first time in the history of the school.

Sen. Magnuson (D) Wash., suggested that it would be somewhat conceited of Americans to write off the possibility that saucers flew from Mars. Magnuson said:

"After all, we have been talking of flying to Mars—or to the moon. It does seem illogical for us to think that with all the planets in the universe, ours is the only one inhabited or the only one that has reached a high scientific development."

Senate GOP Floor Leader Wherry, Neb., scoffed at the flying disc stories. He said:

"There are so many claims made. It is like our foreign policy—it is in a state of confusion, and no one seems to know what it is all about."

Sen. Ferguson (R) Mich., commented that he knew as much about flying saucers as he did of the comics, which he said he gave up reading several years ago.

DELIBERATIONS OF JURY LAST ELEVEN HOURS

trial until the fate of his son was placed in the hands of the jury.

Bednasek again was dressed in the same gray suit he has worn from the first day of the trial.

The state asked the death penalty, charging that Bednasek strangled Miss Jackson because he was jealous and was afraid he might lose her affections.

Claimed Accident

The defense contented that Miss Jackson's death was an accident, that the couple were deeply in love, had talked about marriage, and that Bednasek never at any time thought of hurting the 20-year-old daughter of a prominent Burlington, Ia., attorney.

The jury actually had been out nearly 24 hours. It deliberated for two hours yesterday morning before going to lunch at noon. It resumed its deliberations at 1:30 p. m., and halted them at 6 p. m., for dinner last night. It took up the deliberations again at 8 p. m., and retired at midnight.

PROBERS HEAR CHAIRMAN OF LOYALTY BOARD

has an FBI report as the basis of its actions, since it is not an investigative body itself. He said the report is "exceedingly complete."

He said that after the board acts on the FBI report, either clearing the employee or recommending dismissal because of disloyalty or a "security risk", the case goes to deputy undersecretary of state John E. Peurifoy for further action.

Peurifoy, he continued, "has never failed to execute an adverse decision of the board," nor has Secretary of State Acheson reversed any decision on appeal by the employee involved.

IT WASN'T TRUE

Terms of the treaty recently negotiated by the Soviet government and the Chinese communist regime didn't have a convincing ring when they were made public a few weeks ago. Although Mao Tze-tung's long stay in Miscow hinted that he had been holding out for a reasonable settlement, the one announced sounded too good to be true.

Now it is revealed that it wasn't true. There was more to the agreement than the parties admitted at the time. Tass, official Soviet news agency, has just revealed another deal between Russia and communist China. This one covers an arrangement by which the two are to develop China's rich province of Sinkiang. It's quite a contract. In return for the help given, Russia is to get half the proceeds.

The proceeds could be tremendously important. Sinkiang has deposits of gold and other metals that are being worked even now. It is known that uranium is to be found there. Oil developments are reported to be possible. Whatever there is, half of it is to be Russia's henceforth in return for Russian technical skill, machinery, and whatever else is needed to get production going.

Not a bad deal for the Russians. And if Sinkiang proves even richer than expected, what is there to prevent the Russians from taking a still bigger share of the wealth of that province when China is under Russia's thumb more completely than is the case today?

STONE AND SEPULCHRE

Since the dawn of human reason, man has seen in the cycle of the seasons a symbol of hope. The return of the sun after a winter of darkness is an immemorial miracle thata has kindled the faith of all religions and all creeds. The man who can not see the handiwork of God in the return of life to a dormant earth is a hardened skeptic indeed.

The Christian world bows in solemn reverence as it celebrates the beautiful story of Easter. The risen Saviour stands before an empty tomb. The stone has been rolled away from the sepulchre, and joy cometh in the morning. Life has become something more than a brief span between dawn and sunset. Life is eternal and enduring and knows no death.

To all the weary and heavy laden of the earth comes the reassurance of Easter. Across the dark centuries comes the voice of One who said: "I am the Resurrection and the Life." Again he stands in their midst and says: "Peace be unto you." And if the words and the story are not enough, man has only to look about at the opening buds, at the earth green again after its long sleep, to sense that there is a Power in the universe that is stronger than the grave.

Each must have his sepulchre, each the stone that bars its door. But the power of the spirit that rolled away the stone in Joseph's garden endures. Beyond the grave there is life, the life of faith and hope triumphant.

THAT 'PEACEFUL' RED MARCH

Both United States High Commissioner John J. McCloy and Allied intelligence officials seem impressed by information they say has reached them indicating that the Russians have ordered the May 28 Communist Youth march in Berlin to be confined to "propaganda"—talk, not fists.

It is to be assumed that the Western occupation authorities are not going to be lulled into any false sense of security by this; certainly it is hoped they'll keep their guard up and be prepared for anything comments the Philadelphia Inquirer. The Soviet plan is to send a half-million German Communist Youth into the United States, British and French sectors. Anything could happen under such conditions.

Mr. McCloy's testimony before the House Appropriations Committee recently emphasized the increasing serious conditions in Germany due to constant Russian pressure and to the obvious fact that control of all Germany is still Moscow's goal.

Whether for propaganda or for rough stuff the May 28 march scheme is a decidedly threatening proposal, intended to further the Soviet design to get the Allies out of Berlin.

Putting out hints that violence is to be averted by the Reds themselves may conceal an insidious trick to start outbreaks and then accuse the "capitalists" of brutality if disorders have to be suppressed. The Allies will have to be watchful. And this situation should remind their home governments that a showdown and a settlement of German questions is probably the most important of the many issues pending between East and West.

If you can stop yawning long enough, listen to this: Science says there is no such thing as spring fever!

The federal government's bookkeeping system is to be modernized. Presumably there will be a longer column for the red ink entries.

Sometimes we hear something that makes us think the human race may be worth saving, after all! Near Waterbury, Vt., a 600-car traffic jam resulted when the drivers stopped to watch a herd of deer sun themselves on a hillside.

In View Of News Of The World

Soviet Plans Daring Gamble

A daring Soviet gamble to risk the friendship of Poland in behalf of achieving east-west German unity under communist rule was reported in Berlin today.

Dispatches say that negotiations have started for the return to Germany of at least part of the territory east of the Oder-Neisse that was turned over to Poland at the Potsdam conference in 1945 as compensation for damage done by the invading nazis in 1939.

Acquisition of this territory has played a major role in Poland's rapid—almost miraculous—recovery from the ruins of war.

The Soviets apparently feel that they could win great sympathy among all Germans by returning it. Their propagandists could cite this "generosity" in contrast to allied action with regard to the Saar valley, where France has won a 50-year-old priority on its rich coal resources.

Reaction Problematical

Poland's reaction to any such move is problematical.

Fragmentary dispatches filtering out of that remetically sealed country indicate considerable popular resistance to militant communism, particularly as it affects freedom of religion.

Ninety per cent of all Poles are Roman Catholics. Yet the communist-controlled government is proceeding with a rigorous campaign of oppression reaching into churches and monasteries throughout a nation known for centuries as second only to Italy in the vigor of its religion.

The Poles, however, have allowed themselves to be maneuvered into a difficult position.

It appears that the Soviets have succeeded in breaking down at least some of the country's religious traditions. It is in the ancient city of Lodz, for example, that the communists have established a school for so-called "false priests".

Here young men are given an ostensibly genuine theological education.

Actually, however, they are taught church law and rites only so that they can pervert them shrewdly for the purposes of communist propaganda.

Particularly Valuable

Such "activities" are particularly valuable in the countryside, where the village priest frequently is doctor and lawyer as well as clergyman and his word is law among the village-folk. It is not easy for poorly-educated farm people to see through the masquerade and much is being done to encourage the dry rot of atheism.

With religious publications silenced and Catholics kept from churches by intimidation or worse, the Vatican is unable to raise its voice effectively and communism holds the upper hand by sheer voice.

Any Russian attempt to deprive the Poles of their war spoils, however, might boomerang badly.

The devastation wrought during the three weeks that Poland stood up to Germany was truly enormous, particularly in Warsaw.

By dint of hard work and the fullest exploitation of all available resources, the people of Poland have climbed out of their misery. Moscow takes much of the credit on the grounds that communism encourages backbreaking labor and that without it Poland would still be in ruins.

Average Pole Disagrees

The average Pole disagrees, quite naturally. His sense of national pride is an exceedingly strong one and his love of tradition is great. Observers say that the Poles who rebuilt Warsaw put their hearts and souls into every square foot of brick and plaster.

Soviet Russia's gamble is said to be based on a fear of lessened communist prestige in Germany.

All recent reports indicate a declining enthusiasm despite desperate attempts to keep it high, as evidenced in demonstrations such as the forthcoming May 2 Whitsunday parade which originally was to have been a bid for western occupied Berlin.

The latter part of this plan apparently has been dropped and the communist youth organization will demonstrate in the eastern sector.

It might be a temporarily effective stroke if the Germans were told on that occasion they would get back their lost territory, perhaps some of East Prussia which the Soviets now occupy. The Russians probably are debating whether the possible loss of Polish cooperation would be offset by German gains.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

DON'T NAG CHILD ABOUT MARKS

If you have one or more children who have done very well at school and a younger child who does not do so well at books or even fails, you may incline to grow a bit panicky and do all sorts of foolish things that impede the learning progress of this younger child instead of furthering it. Some parents begin to nag at the child when he does not get average or above-average school grades.

The first conclusion you may leap to is that this child is just lazy. Doesn't he have the same bright parents his older brothers and sisters have? With the same heredity and environment, you conclude, he should do as well at school.

Identical Twins

But no two children in the same family, except identical twins, have the same heredity. And no two children in this family, including identical twins, can have the same environment. The same parents, in spite of their greatest efforts to the contrary, don't act entirely the same toward any two of their children. Very often each or both parents act towards two of their children in widely different ways—they provide them with different environment.

In so simple a matter as age difference, the parents are different persons when the youngest child is born from the persons they were when each older child was born. And where there is wide age-difference between the youngest and the next-older child the psychological environment can be very different. Notice the gap of nine years between the youngest and the next-older child in the family described below—almost like two families.

"Dear Dr. Myers:

"The progress that my eight-year-old boy is making at school is poor. His last report card shows he is below average in reading, spelling, English and writing. I have three older children aged 23, 20, and 17. Each graduated with honors. I have never compared one child's progress with the others.

Youngest Boy

"I am unable to find why this youngest boy lags at school. The teachers say he cries at school, gives up a hard task easily and seems uninterested, but that he does not give any trouble; that he is far advanced in some ways but such a baby in others. He is left-handed and it has been a problem for him to write as fast as the other children, and when he falls behind in a spelling test he just quits. If teacher keeps him after school and give him the test alone he makes A, A- or B."

In answering this mother I pointed out that she may be unduly concerned about the boy's grades, that some children naturally learn more slowly than others. You should have this lad's vision and hearing tested and have him given a careful checkover by your physician. He seems to be very "nervous." Does he get sleep and rest enough? Does he feel calm and serene most of the time? Does he feel secure in family and among the other children of his age? I hope no one tampers with his handedness. Help him practice at writing slowly from good copy at home in order to improve his hand-writing. Let him spell some words as you pronounce them for him. I am enclosing some bulletins: "Home Helps in Reading," "Home Helps in Spelling" and "The Nervous Child," which anybody else may have in a stamped envelope sent me at 235 East 45th street, New York, N. Y.

A BIG OIL CAN

Sometimes we get an idea that a fat lady is like a big lump of butter or lard.

When lard is in a live pig it is more like oil. It is in little globules or droplets all through the animal.

A fat person is more like an oil can. Maybe that is why the boys like to squeeze a fat girl.

Too much fat is not very good.

Obesity is a dangerous condition. Ten pounds over weight should show a red light or ring an alarm bell or something.

After a person has been carrying around a lot of excess baggage for a couple of years the damage has usually been done. Reducing is not nearly as good as preventing.

They Say

NEW YORK — Mrs. Clarence Holden, whose prematurely-born baby was kidnaped from a hospital incubator: "I don't hold anything against you whoever you are. All I ask is my baby back, and alive."

WASHINGTON — Rep. Worley (D) Tex., in a farewell speech to his fellow-congressmen: "I fear that the time is approaching when only those with independent means can serve in congress. . ."

NEW YORK—One worlder Garry Davis following his release from Ellis Island: "Any plans I give you now would be prejudiced in my present state of fatigue."

In a few days Easter will be over . . . then the President will leave his southern post and will start a vigorous campaign tour . . . This coming campaign was kicked off several weeks ago when the Jefferson and Jackson dinners were held . . . the "big" shin-dig taking place in Washington . . . remember reading about the affairs . . . dinner tickets went at $100.00 the plate . . . (No tips) . . . It's a safe bet that those who attended those affairs either had their feet in the trough of public funds or expected to put them in . . . No one else could afford the price . . . Look at it this way. Our private enterprise system must be pretty good to produce people who do not produce and yet can spend 100 bucks for a feed.

Could the price of these dinners be a preview of the cost of food when the average worker earns a wage of $12,000 per year as predictd by President Truman?

President Truman has said many times . . . and will probably say again on his tours of the spring season . . . "We will win if we have the same team in 1952" . . . That's for sure, that's for darn sure . . . look at the team . . . The Pendergast machine in Kansas City . . . great offensive players . . . The Avery machine . . . nee Kelley . . . in Chicago, very fine on interference . . . Tammany Hall of New York is good in all around play . . . The Hague crowd still have some substitutes that will stick to the old Alma Mater . . . and then all over the country come the first string players, Jobholders and Bureaucrats . . . yes, the same team will be favorites and it will take all of us suckers who pay the bills to beat that set-up.

But the Russians are smart . . . gosh look at the information they got for 400 bucks . . . remember reading about Klaus Fuchs and his information . . . But then maybe they paid too much . . . LIFE magazine printed diagrams of the A-Bomb and that printed unit only cost 20 cents.

Yes . . . the spring season will bring much reading material . . . while the top executive goes on his trip . . . we here in Lawrence County will try to make up our minds as to whom our vote should go locally. Spring is beautiful.

UMMY-YUM-YUM!!

Washington Calling

(By Marquis Childs)

'Both Tragic And Dangerous'

WASHINGTON, April 5.—In this phase of the cold war, the Soviet Union must have in the United States a very effective espionage network. Only the most innocent-minded or wilfully blind fellow traveler could doubt that.

The difference lies, insofar as the difference has a reasonable and more or less objective base, in what to do about it. We have in this country valid and tested means of countering an alien spy system.

That is one of the functions of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. It seems to me significant that the FBI contributed largely to the exposure of the British taomic spy, Klaus Fuchs. The military establishment has a counter-intelligence system with somewhat the same function, and there is the highly secret work of the central intelligence agency.

The McCarthy technique is aimed for the most part at traitorous thoughts. We have seen in recent weeks how indiscriminately it smears and besmirches and we have seen, too, how it divides and distracts Americans at a critical moment in history.

Striking Study

A striking study has just been published, called "treason, the story of disloyalty and betrayal in American history." (Public Affairs Press, Washington.) The author, Nathaniel Weyl, has done a service in putting this business of treason in the long historical perspective.

It is not exactly new in our national history. There were traitors during the Revolutionary War, some of them, like Aaron Burr, getting into the history books. The Civil War saw the Copperheads and the riots against the war incited in several large eastern cities. During the Spanish-American war, a commanding general of the U. S. Army was an agent of the Spanish secret service.

But Weyl makes it clear that no foreign power has ever had an infiltration and intelligence such as the Soviet Union has in the Communist parties of the world. He suggests that in the early 1930's there were probably four functioning Soviet underground rings in this country, three of them political in nature and centered in Washington. Weyl writes:

Seek Those In Key Jobs

"The comintern apparatus was instructed to recruit influential government men—either in key jobs or destined for them later. The central objective was to push these agents forward into strategic positions of government power. In a future period of crisis between the Soviet Union and the United States, it was thought that their services would be invaluable."

In the conclusion of his book, Weyl makes what seem to me to be an important point about the concept of treason under the American system with its freedoms. The American guilty of treason has betrayed not merely a ruler, a government. He has betrayed freedom itself. It is this that compounds the crime of those intellectuals who have surrendered mind and conscience to totalitarian communism.

"There is also," Weyl writes, "A more personal and immediate failure of democracy: The truancy of the intellectuals from the philosophy of individual freedom. The totalitarian movements — particularly communism—were and are led by intellectuals. These men want an absolute faith and an absolute truth; they went to be absolved from the painful function of moral choice, not realizing that without such choice creativity is impossible. In short, theirs are minds too tender and too immature for the hard philosophy of freedom."

May Be Much Later

It may be much later by the clock of history than most of us realize. The atmosphere created by the McCarthy charges in the Senate is strongly reminiscent of the months that preceded Pearl Harbor. Some of the same people who resisted Roosevelt's every effort to help Britain and France stand up against the Nazis are now behind the "Get Acheson" movement.

Their motives may be somewhat different this time. They are, or some of them, the spearhead of a kind of war party. There are even some who seem to belong to a civil war party.

Surely those responsible for the feuding must see that it is doing more harm than good. For one Hiss case ending in conviction in the courts, it has produced several hundred misfires, sowing doubt and division and misery.

Many, both in and out of government, were slow to understand the threat of communism at home and abroad. Surely no one can have any illusions. To pursue the method of public feud is to further the kind of division in this country that is being tragic and dangerous.

I see the Republicans are thinking of buying a building in Washington to be closer to the capitol . . . What they really need is a building closer to the white house.

BUT they'll come back strong some day . . . Undoubtedly in a year when they wish they could stick the Democrats with the victory.

LAWN

A lawn too perfect seems to me
Just like a house too neat,
Where all who enter never see
The marks of racing feet.

The sign, "Keep off the grass!"
I read
And sadly shake my head.
I think it shame to plant the seed
Where children may not tread.

Is beauty only for the eye,
Not for the heart to share?
If so, why happier am I
To look on places bare?

Where first base was I still can show.
The home plate still I see,
For where the green grass couldn't grow
Our children used to be.

The Mundt Bill-Final

(By HOLMES ALEXANDER)

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 5.—Last summer in an airplane I happened to share seats with a gentleman from South Dakota who did not hesitate to say that my journalistic opinions on Senator Mundt (R., S. D.) were unfair and uninformed. My fellow-traveler was certain that Mundt and I would get along famously if we came to know each other on a personal basis. He was right. I have come to know Mundt a little and to like him a lot. He is an acute, industrious statesman with a strong sense of duty and a fetching sense of duty and a fetching sense of humor. He is, I take it, not the sort to consider himself infallible or to insist that nobody can disagree with him and still remain friends.

Something Else Again

But the Mundt bill, to which I have now devoted four columns, is something else again. The Mundt bill (S-2311) is worth all the space any writer can give to it because it is a peculiar product of these baffling times. Although it deals only with civilians and civilian matters, it is as much a national defense bill as if it came from the Pentagon. Anyone who attempts to write about the Mundt bill deserves a purple heart in advance. If you're for it, you're attacking the fundamental liberties of this free nation. If you're against it, you run the dread risk of being called a Leftist.

But I'm against it. When all is said and done, the Mundt bill adds up to be unnecessary and dangerous. It has some elaborate safeguards to protect the innocent, and it is far superior to the Mundt-Nixon bill which preceded it in 1948. But these are negative qualities. They aren't good enough.

So Does Hatch Act

S-2311 forbids Communists to hold non-elective Federal offices—but so does the Hatch Act. S-2311 forbids Communists the use of passports to leave the country and return—but the State and Justice Department already have this discretionary power. S-2311 names Communism as an international conspiracy—but so, in effect, does the Smith Act under which the 11 Communist leaders were tried and convicted before Judge Medina.

As for the dangerous aspects of the Mundt bill, we have to look at its origin and development. Nearly three years ago the House Committee on Un-American Activities summoned a group of Hollywood scriptwriters to Washington and asked them individually: "Are you or have you ever been a Communist?"

It was a loaded question. The Committee, as Mundt tells me, already had the Communist membership cards of 11 of these writers. If the writers answered yes, they were exposed. If they answered no, they were committing perjury. If they refused to answer, as they did, they were in contempt of Congress.

Had Visit From Johnston

Shortly after the hearing Mundt had a visit from Eric Johnston, head of the Motion Picture Association. Johnston was upset because one or more American Legion posts in Indiana had undertaken a boycott on Hollywood movies. Johnston foresaw that such a boycott could soon put Hollywood out of business. He begged Mundt and others to save Movieland from this dire fate.

This was the genesis of the Mundt-Nixon bill which passed the House in 1948, but did not reach the Senate. It was intended to give movie-makers, and other industrialists as well as the labor unions, a basis on which to recognize subversive characters and to exclude them from normal employment and association. In addition, it was supposed to protect the American public from propaganda and evil influence. The present Mundt bill, requiring all Communists and Communist followers to register with the Attorney General, has the same joint purposes.

Not In This Business

These are things, to my mind, which the U. S. Government is not in business to do. The Government, of course, should catch, prosecute and punish criminals. But the Mundt bill goes far beyond that. It creates another invasion of private life and private enterprise by Federal bureaucracy. It sets up three $12,500-a-year members of a Subversive Activities Board to blacklist persons of doubtful loyalty. It throws these persons out of work, gives them incentives to hate the Government, provides them with time to find mischief for their idle hands to do. It turns loose on the land a horde of hungry, vengeful crackpots who can make immeasurable trouble. It can fill our courts and jails with conscientious objectors who refuse to register with the Attorney General and who seek this chance-of-a-lifetime to play at being public martyrs. There is nothing at all in the bill—except fear—to persuade an American that Communism is a false doctrine.

The Mundt bill is the honest attempt of a sincere man to solve a devilish national problem. But the attempt falls into the ancient fallacy that wherever there's trouble, there "oughta be a law." We already have plenty of laws against traitors, subversives and other such malefactors. One more law, unfortunately, won't solve the problem.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

"Virtue's a blessing without price. But a little vice—is nice."

That from some show I saw many years ago. I don't even remember what it was. Probably something I shouldn't have seen.

But it always comes back to me when I get letters of condemnation after writing something about having enjoyed one of the natural pleasures of life.

Most of these letters come from women who lead frustrated lives.

But today there was one from a man. A sizzler it was, too.

How dare I tell my readers about going to a prize fight AND ENJOYING IT?

Is that the kind of man I am? A brute? A siner? A lost soul—

Never is he going to read my devilish scrivening again. Yea, the paper in which it appears will not even enter and befoul his home any more!

Gosh!

I get the same kind of letters—mostly anonymous—when I say something about dancing, about going to the theater, about smoking.

According to some of those poor souls, no one has a right to live unless he lives in self-denial and monotony.

Rot!

And doubly rot, because these people always invoke the Bible to prove their point.

In my opinion life is not supposed to be a path of sorrow on the way to the grave and the hereafter.

Life is beauiful. Life is magnificent. Life is a wonderful song, a glorious painting. It is laughter and fun and excitement and achivement.

None of us is perfect. None of us is supposed to be perfect.

All you who read me regularly know that I love the Bible.

But I love it not as a whipping post, not as a cruel task master, not as a "Verboten" sign on the green grass of life.

To me the Bible is a guide, a wise philosopher, a benign parent, forgiving me my little errors and keeping me from committing big ones.

If there were no vice there would be no need for forgiveness. If there were no sin there would be no repentance.

Life is trial and error.

Achievement is rarely ever attained without mistakes.

There is no excuse for crime. There is no justification for viciousness. No one has a right to hurt his neighbor.

The ten commandments tell us what is right and what is wrong. Is there anything about dancing, going to the movies, having an occasional smoke in the ten commandments?

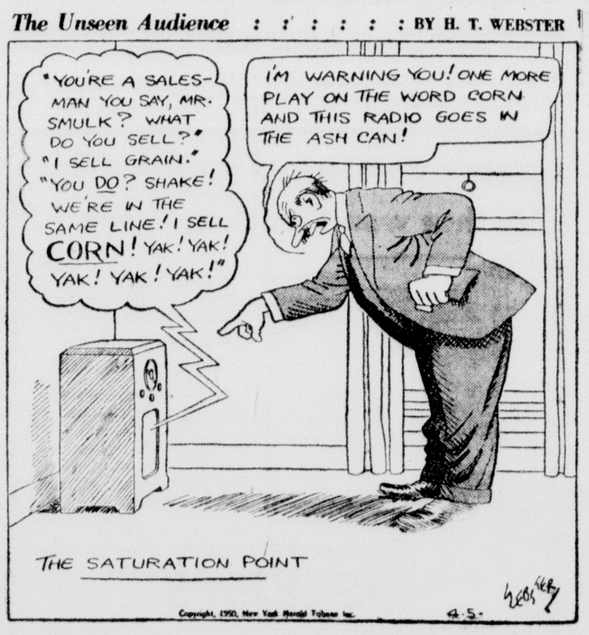

The trouble is that too many people are trying to interpret the Bible to suit their own hypocracies and misbeliefs.

Remember, please: "To err is human, to forgive divine."

White House Denies Any Flying Saucer Knowledge

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

U. S. SUB BASE, KEY WEST, Fla., April 5.—The White House denied any knowledge of the existence of the so-called "flying saucers."

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said that President Truman has no knowledge of any secret project by this government that would give substance to the existence of such objects.

He said further that the President had no information about the possession of such flying objects by any foreign government, or by any other planetary beings.

Ross said:

"If such objects existed as a secret project by this government, the President would know about them."

No Knowledge

The subject of the "flying saucers" was explored thoroughly at the press secretary's Tuesday news conference.

Ross said:

"No one at the White House knows anything about these objects.

"The Air Force set up a special project in December of 1947 to investigate all rumors and reports about these things. It was carried on until April of last year.

"There is nothing to these stories of flying saucers.

"This conclusion was so firmly reached that there was no use to carry on the study further.

"I'm not denying this because it is in any secret category.

"All I'm saying is that no one here knows anything about these mysterious objects."

Ross said that both the Air Force and the Navy deny that such objects exist.

Introduce Bill Aimed At Breaking Up Gambling In U.S.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—(INS) Sen. Johnson (D) Col., introduced an anti-crime bill Tuesday to break up interstate transmission of horse racing and other gambling results by leased wire or other means.

The measrue is one of two recommended by the national conference on crime and approved by the justice department.

The other measure, dealing with Interstate shipment of slot machines and other gambling devices, will await a decision of the senate commerce committee.

Johnson's action brought to a showdown a contest over which the senate committee will conduct an investigation of big time crime in the United States.

The commerce committee chairman said he would immediately move to have the race wire bill referred to his communications subcommittee and press the senate rules committee to approve $50,000 to finance a probe.

Sen. Kefauver (D) Tenn., is the author of a resolution to investigate nationwide crime and wants the probe conducted by the judiciary committee.

Johnson told the senate he was introducing the measure at the request of the justice department and asked that it be assigned to his committee. That appears to be merely a formality since the bill deals with interstate commerce.

Kefauver attempted to get immediate senate action on his resolution but was blocked by parliamentary rules.

Potter Farmers Seek Crop Damage Relief From Game

COUDERSPORT, Pa.—(INS)—A representative committee of Potter County farmers, a jurist, sportsmen, the department of forests and waters and the Pennsylvania game commission met recently at Coudersport to study deer damage to crops.

The meeting was the result of a mass meeting held in February on the same issue.

At the most recent session, the discussions covered all game damage, including that done by deer. Farmers told of crop damages done by black bears and turkeys, and asked that all game refuges in the county be abandoned until the crop damage is practically eliminated.

The farmers sponsoring the meeting asked the game commission to (1) declare a two-weeks "any deer" season, with only spike bucks protected; (2) declare a second week of bear hunting, having it run concurrently with the second week of deer season, and (3) indicate its decision on the 1950 deer season at its April meeting instead of waiting until the usual July meeting to do so.

Clevelander Sues Self For Divorce

CLEVELAND, April 5.—(INS)—The case of Carl Yedlicka—a Clevelander who sued himself for divorce — raises an interesting problem that merits the attention of all civil servants.

Yedlicka, happily married for 36 years, was somewhat surprised when the sheriff's office served him with a summons yesterday.

The would-be defendant in a divorce suit, who works in the office of the clerk of courts, had inadvertently filled in his own name while filling out the summons in a divorce case involving a husband whose first name is also Carl.

But suppose he had worked in the coroner's office or—worse yet—for the draft board.

In early spring all plants—grass, trees, flowers, shrubs, and vegetables . . . take a new lease on life — provided the soil contains needed food.
All of them need the re-vitalizing "tonic" effect of MILORGANITE, the natural organic fertilizer. It restores to the soil the important elements used by plants during the past season.
Milorganite is SAFE for anyone to use. It is clean, dust-free, easy to apply and non-burning. Effects are long-lasting, too. That's why Milorganite-fed lawns stay green longer.

Dilworth and Musmanno round out the Democratic organization slate.

State Trooper G. J. Vanderslice, on duty in the bureau during the drawing, pulled the numbered card from the bag to determine positions for Duff and Dilworth.

Harrisburg Attorney Earl Compton drew for Kunkel while Eugene Mace, a legislative employe, drew for Fine.

Damage Suit Filed Quickly

PITTSBURGH, April 5.—(INS)—A Pittsburgh jeweler and his wife today faced court action on a negligence charge resulting from damages suffered by a 25-year-old mother whose leg was amputated.

The condition of Mrs. Rose Ann Frushell, mother of a four-month-old girl, was still serious today at Mercy hospital. She was one of ten persons injured by a driverless automobile that smashed into a Pittsburgh drug store front Monday.

Attorney James P. McArdle filed the suit yesterday, less than 24 hours after the accident occurred, and in conformance with court rules, the damage was listed "in excess of $2,500."

McArdle's suit was filed on behalf of Mrs. Frushell against Mrs. Frances X. Cuda and her husband, Carl Cuda, operator and owner, respectively, of the vehicle involved in the accident.

Mrs. Cuda had stepped from the vehicle, and with her sister was waiting for their mother to leave the car when it rolled away from the curb, across an intersection, then leaped a curb to plunge into the drug store front.

Specific Verdict In Mercy Slaying Case Not Designated

ALLENTOWN, Pa., April 5.—(INS)—District Attorney Kenneth H. Koch declared today he will show simply that 36-year-old Harold A. Mohr shot and killed his blind, cancer-ridden brother, Walter, 55, in nearby Coplay last March 8.

In a six-minute address, Koch reminded the jury of eight men and four women that Harold has been indicted for murder and voluntary manslaughter.

The district attorney, however, did not ask specifically for either a murder or manslaughter conviction. He said:

"You must decide this case strictly on what you see and hear from the witness stand and from Judge (James F.) Henninger."

Plane Victim Is Rescued After 28 Hours On Mountain

EASTON, Pa., April 5.—(INS)—A 32-year-old CAA inspector who lay helpless for 28 hours on a rugged mountain top near a wrecked airplane in which the pilot was killed is in a critical condition today at Easton hospital.

Physicians marveled at the endurance of Ben B. Rock, badly burned about the body, who was still conscious and coherent when two air force medical corpsmen parachuted to the rocky crash site for a dramatic rescue.

Rock had left LaGuardia Field in New York as a passenger on a light craft piloted by John C. Medford, 32, of Elmont, N. Y., another CAA embploye, Monday morning en route to Lock Haven, Pa., where he is employed.

Historical Shrines Attracting Citizens

HARRISBURG.—Added interest in Pennsylvania's many historical shrines is shown in the continuing increase of visitors to these sites, according to the State Department of Commerce Vacation and Recreation bureau.

Visitors registered at nine well-known shrines in the Keystone State numbered 174,785 during 1949, according to figures furnished by the State Historical and Museum commission.

Official tabulations reveal that 594,141 persons visited Valley Forge, with the greatest number going there in May when the dogwood trees were in blossom, and that 600,000 persons visited the Gettysburg Battlefield. This is an increase of 20,000 persons over the 1948 visitations at Gettysburg.

Following is a list of nine well-known points of historical interest in the Keystone State with the 1949 visitation figures:

Drake Well Memorial Park, 50,865; Daniel Boone Homestead, 35,065; Pennsbury Manor, 40,582; Ephrata Cloiser, 22,397; Old Economy, 7,961; Flagship Niagara, 6,820; Fort Augusta, 5,984; Cornwall Furnace, 5,051, and Pottsgrove Mansion 60.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

A Chance To Grow Up Gradually

The other day, the five-year-old son of friends of ours made a very penetrating remark. His mother had been attending a meeting in the afternoon and had left him pretty much on his own, though under the watchful eye of a neighbor.

When mother came home, Billy asked her about the meeting and then said, "You leave me alone sometimes so I'll have a chance to grow up gradually, don't you, mother?"

Not many five year olds would have such an idea and Billy's mother couldn't figure where he had gotten his. But he did put his finger on something pretty important.

The child who hadn't had the chance to be away from mother or father probably will suffer acutely from homesickness. And sometimes this occurs in his late 'teens or early twenties. Many a youngster has failed to learn to be on his own in any way because he wasn't permitted, as is Billy, "to grow up gradually."

Parents shouldn't feel guilty about leaving youngsters to their own devices. Of course, they will need supervision for safety's sake but they will learn a great deal about getting along in this world of ours when they have some opportunity to take care of themselves.

Donora Group Plans Anti-Smog Action

WEBSTER, Pa., April 5.—(INS)—The Society for Better Living will hold its April meeting tonight at the Webster school.

Officials of the smog-fighting group said possible legal action against the American Steel & Wire Co. will be considered.

The society has long contended that fumes from American Steel & Wire Co.'s zinc works were responsible for the Donora smog tragedy, which claimed 22 lives and made 6,000 more ill in 1948.

Several times during the past year, the society has considered a nuisance suit against the firm, but withheld action when the company reportedly promised to install smoke catchers.

Last week the society charged that smoke conditions in the Donora-Webster district were "the worst since the smog catastrophe". The group hinted that formal action may be taken sometime soon.

"My daughter will have a private wedding ceremony in the rectory, at which only the immediate families will be present. We wish to have a reception afterwards but are not sure how such invitations should be worded. May we have your help?"

Question: My husband and I have been separated for three months but we are not divorced. I have continued to wear both my engagement and wedding rings. Should I remove both? Also should I still call myself "Mrs. Robert Green?"

Answer: You are still married and so may continue to wear both of your rings. And you are still, legally, Mrs. Robert Green.

Question: My daughter-in-law calls me "Mrs. Smith." Should I sign my letters to her "Mrs. Smith?"

Answer: Never, under any social circumstances, sign your name "Mrs. Smith." Sign "Mary Smith" or whatever your full name is.

New Sewage Disposal Systems Are Ordered By Sanitary Board

HARRISBURG—Orders to build sewage treatment works and to have them in operation by June 1, 1952 were issued by the sanitary water board to Harrisburg, Sunbury, Williamsport and South Williamsport, the first orders to be issued along the Susquehanna river.

Similar orders to all the other municipalities along the Susquehanna and Juniata rivers and their tributaries will be issued as soon as they can be prepared. The deadline for completition of the treatment works by municipalities along the Juniata river and its tributaries is May 1, 1952, while the Susquehanna deadline is June 1, 1952.

The orders effect all sewered communities along the Susquehanna river from the Maryland-Pennsylvania line to the confluence of the north and west branches of the river at Sunbury and those on the West Branch upstream to and including Lock Haven, and those on the North Branch to the mouth of the Lackawanna river. All communities along the Juniata river and its tributaries which come within the scope of the Clean Streams law will receive the construction orders. Altoona received an order to build treatment works some time ago. Two plants will be constructed there to replace the present plants which are inadequate. It is understood that bids will be advertised for within the next few weeks for construction of the first units.

Drinking Water, Spring Or River, Is Philly Problem

PHILADELPHIA — (INS) — If water drinking was not such a necessity, there apparently would be no problem, but . . .

The water situation in Philadelphia has divided drinkers into those who drink and remain silent, those who drink and complain, and those who drink only spring water.

The last group comes from all classes—high, low, and middlebrows—and has tabooed entirely the use of "Schuylkill punch", or "Delaware cocktail".

These names were branded on the H-20 within the two rivers which provide most of Philadelphia's water.

But many of the Quaker city's drinkers agree with Joseph A. Zondek, who claims he hasn't drunk faucet water for 21 years, "and what's more, I never will."

He is one of the more outspoken members of the city's unorganized "Give-me-my-spring-water-set."

No estimate is available on how many persons are of this opinion, but the list includes the poor and rich.

Louis Roma, 86, a local businessman, has his chauffeur drive him to a spring in Fairmount park, and says he has quenched his thirst that way for 20 years.

Roma explained:

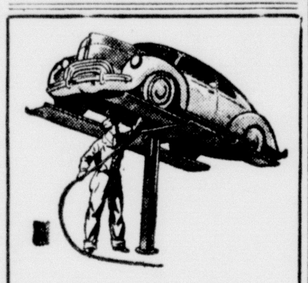

"The faucet water has this chlorine in it, and they tell me chlorine is good for the stomach. Maybe so, but I know it isn't good for my stomach."

FISH RATE HIGH IN FOOD VALUES

Fish is an excellent food and deserves a prominent place in family menus. Fish is a high-quality protein food and a rich source of vitamins.

Besides its vitamin and protein content, fish supplies some of the much needed minerals, such as calcium, iron, copper, and iodine. The bones of canned fish have been made soft by cooking and may be eaten. They are a good source of calcium.

The most importaant point in fish cookery is don't overcook. Cook just until the flesh is tender and can be flaked easily. This leaves the fish moist and tender and brings out its most delicate flavor.

Fresh, frozen, or canned fish may be used for variety. This recipe for salmon timbales, served with Mock Hollandaise Sauce is suggested:

Salmon Timbales

1½ cup canned salmon, 1-3 cup milk, 1-3 cup soft bread crumbs, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 2 egg yolks, 2 egg whites, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley.

Soak bread crumbs in milk. Mash salmon with a fork. Add salt, chopped parsley, lemon juice, and egg yolks. Mix and add bread crumb mixture. Fold in beaten egg whites. Pour mixture into greased custard cups or muffin tins and bake in a pan of hot water in a moderate oven, 350° F. about 30 minutes. Turn timbales onto a hot platter. Serve at once with mock Hollandaise Sauce.

Mock Hollandaise Sauce

1 cup milk, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons butter, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 2 egg yolks, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon lemon juice.

Melt two tablespoons butter, blend in flour. Add salt. Gradually add milk and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Remove from fire. Stir in beaten egg yolks, butter, and lemon juice. Serve hot.

GREENFIELD, Mo. — The fire siren sounded shortly after midnight. It kept on sounding during a severe thunderstorm. Citizens turned out to fight a major conflagation. They found that the lightning had short-circuited the wire.

Johnson Declares Eisenhower's Plan Can Be Carried Out

WASHINGTON, April 5.—(INS)—Defense Secretary Johnson declared today that all of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's recommendations can be carried out within the 13-billion dollar budget already proposed to congress.

The secretary told a news conference that he talked to Eisenhower yesterday and read the general's congressional testimony last night. Johnson said flatly that the difference between them on money is "none".

Eisenhower estimated that his recommendations might cost an additional 500 million dollars. Johnson said that Eisenhower was unaware of additional money that has been earmarked for anti-submarine warfare and Alaskan defense.

Johnson said that if more money is needed for new air force planes to maintain 48 groups, he will "immediately recommend an increase to the White House". He added that he does not believe this will be necessary.

Says New Drugs Prolong Lives

LONDON—(INS)—The intriguing possibility that men some day will live as long as Methuselah (969 years) has been advanced by Prof. Sir Ian Heilbron, president of the British Chemical society.

While lecturing to Birmingham university and undergraduates on the new drug, cortisone, the professor said: "You may be in the unenviable position, you younger people, of finding it very difficult in the future to die.

"There is no reason why your body cells should degenerate or the arteries harden. These are merely chemical processes."

Sir Ian claimed that the new drug cortisone was more nearly connected with the regeneration of cells of the human body than anything so far developed and contained great possibilities for prolonging life.

Rheumatism and rheumatoid arthritis are the most important maladies that are being treated by the new drug at $140 a shot.

"I wish," he continued, "I had another 40 years of chemistry ahead of me, because what we have laboriously built up for you is nothing to what you are going to do in the future. You should reap enormous rewards."

ICE CREAM OUTPUT

HARRISBURG—Ice cream production in Pennsylvania for the month of February totaled 4,240,000 gallons, leading all other states. The amount was four per cent greater than in January, two per cent above February 1949 and 25 per cent higher than the average for the month, 1944-48.

Western Union Rates Boost Authorized

HARRISBURG, April 5.—(INS)—The Western Union Telegraph company on Tuesday was authorized by the Public Utility Commission to boost rates $133,000 a year.

The rate-fixing agency authorized the firm to establish uniform message rates between Pennsylvania points effective today.

A similar inter-state policy was approved February 1 by the Federal Communications Commission.

The new rates will be ascertained by dividing Pennsylvania into blocks each 50 miles square and fixing the mileage by airplane distance from their centers, according to the PUC.

The commission said the new schedule will eliminate overlapping of rate zones.

Western's basic 10-word telegram will cost more in some areas and less in others, according to the commission.

The company told the commission when filing its petition that the rate level in Pennsylvania has been below the national average for many years.

GROW CLEAN PLANTS

Many destructive vegetable diseases may be avoided by growing seedlings in soil free from disease-causing organisms. A. H. Bauer, extension pathologist of the Pennsylvania State College, says one way is to use clean oil and the other way is to treat the soil with formaldehyde two weeks before using it.

Sees Nothing To Indicate War In Asia

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
Far Eastern Director, International News Service

TOKYO, April 5.—Vice Adm. Russell Berkey, commander of the U. S. Far Eastern Naval forces, declared Tuesday that communism in Asia can be contained within its present confines if American aid to non-Communist nations arrives quickly enough.

The admiral made that observation in a Tokyo interview during which he also said:

No War Outbreak Seen

"I see nothing in Asia indicating an outbreak of general war."

The Chinese Communist forces, Berkey said, are not capable, in his opinion, of supporting any large military movement across China's land and sea frontiers.

The admiral, who recently returned from a tour of southeast Asia, added that he does not believe either the Chinese Communists or Nationalists are strong enough to attack amphibiously across the Formosa Straits.

The peoples of southeast Asia, Berkey continued, are ready to welcome any government that offers them peace and order as well as a reasonable economy.

Difficult To Decide

However, he added, the southeast Asiatic governments presently lack sufficient trained administrator and therefore "it is difficult for our people to decide on the amounts and types of aid they can handle."

The admiral said Indo-China needs war materiel plus French military advisors.

He said the Indo-Chinese Communist regime of Ho Chi Minh, which is recognized by Russia, has 45,000 regular troops and another 45,000 irregulars but these forces are "not modernly armed."

The forces of the Bao Dai government, recognized by the western allies, and the French troops aiding them are "somewhat more" modernly equipped Berkey stated.

In assisting the Bao Dai forces, he said, it is most important to bolster their river patrol craft, vehicles and communications. They do not need "much shooting stuff," as the admiral put it. Of the general situation in embattled Indo-China, Berkey asserted:

'I am optimistic if we can get help there fast."

The admiral belittled reports that the recent riots in the Indo-Chinese capital of Saigon were anti-American. He said American uniformed Navy photographers went about the riot area unmolested.

The lilies we use for the Easter season is a native of Syria and Persia and from the Middle Ages down to modern times lilies have been used as a sign of purity.

Even the bulb of the lily is a symbol of the resurrection as it comes into life and bears beautiful blooms. The bulb is a storehouse that supplies the plant an abundance of food, and it also nourishes the plant during the dry season of the summer, giving strength to the lily in the time of bloom.

The white lily that grows wild in the low meadows has three to six flower heads and under modern cultivation thirty or more blooms on a stock are not uncommon.

Some lilies carry brilliant colors, while others, like the Turk's Cap, are speckled and the Easter lily is pure white. Lilies like all flowers, contain nectar and they depend upon the insects to pollinize them so that their loveliness will replenish the earth each season.

Some flowers woo certain species of insects, others set their cap for butterflies. The pollinizers of the Turk's Cap and other colored lilies are the color-loving bees that are best adapted for removing and scattering the rich pollen of lilies.

Ever since creation the white lily has depended upon the night flying sphinx moth to keep it white. The white lily primps itself for the sphinx, its white blooms shining in the dusk of a warm evenings the sweet scent attracting the moth to the deep-hidden nectar that only the long tongue of the Sphinx moth can reach. When the moth is not feeding it's long tongue or probe which is five or six inches long is coiled tight like a spring and is held between it's tongue cheeks, and released only to drink nectar. When the Sphinx is not in search of food it is very quiet. Its range is chiefly between the eastern and central states.

Big Contract Awarded On West Turnpike

HARRISBURG, April 5.—(INS)—A $4,822,111 contract for building 9.03 miles of the extension of the western expressway was awarded Tuesday by the Pennsylvania Turnpike commission to the Frank Masuda Co., of Pittsburgh.

One section will stretch 3.9 miles through Marshall and Pine townships while the other will cover 5.14 miles in Richland and Hampton townships, all in Allegheny county.

The PTC said today's award boosted the total of mileage under contract to 37.24. When completed, the super-highway will carry turnpike traffic from Irwin to the Pennsylvania-Ohio line in the vicinity of Petersburg, O.

The commission also called for bids April 26 for construction of the 580-foot long Willow Run viaduct in Hampton township and the 1,267 foot long viaduct over Plum creek in Allegheny county.

Armed Forces Week Program Plans Advance

Armed Forces committee met at the American Legion Tuesday evening to discuss further plans for the Armed Forces program, to be held in the county the week of May 14, ending with Armed Forces Day on May 20.

Manning Weller, chairman of the committee, conducted the meeting. He went over the tentative schedule set up by the committee at its last meeting.

Several changes were made in the original schedule at the meeting.

It had been previously planned to have a nationally known figure present to speak at a luncheon on Wednesday, May 17. It was decided by the committee, however, to arrange to have a number of local speakers give talks to the various organizations in the county.

Major T. L. Alexander, area project officer, assured the committee that he could secure an army general to speak on the occasion, but all members of the committee seemed certain that more people could be reached by going to the various clubs and organizations to speak.

William Lanagan, chairman of the speakers committee, will arrange a stable of speakers to talk to the organizations.

Parade Planned

Major Alexander discussed the possibility of a prize for the best float in the parade, which is scheduled for Friday evening, May 19, and said that letters will be mailed to the various organizations in the county to assure a top-notch parade.

He also said that the businesses will be asked to display flags and that they will be asked to put displays in the windows where space is available.

Major Alexander also announced that there will be a military ball Saturday night, May 20, at the Armory, to end the week's program.

Motto for the program will be "Teamed for Defense". The purpose of it is to show the people of the community their part in the defense of the nation and to show the unity of the three major services—Army, Navy and Marines.

Next meeting of the committee will be held Tuesday, April 18, at the American Legion.

No Story Hour At Local Library

No story hour will be held in the junior department of the free public library Thursday afternoon of this week, it was announced today.

Story hour will resume on Thursday afternoon, April 13, at 4 o'clock. Mrs. W. McKee, junior librarian, will be in charge of the story hour.

Junior Class Of Mount Jackson Plans For Play

Members of the play cast of the Mt. Jackson high school are working hard on a comedy entitled "The Perfect Idiot". The entire junior class is preparing for the production.

The stage crew is busy rearranging the stage for the night of April 11 at 8 o'clock. Members of the home economics class is constructing a hat covered with carrots and parsnips for Mary Lou Howard to wear in the play. Bob Brodbeck and Bonny Booher have made original posters which are distributed over North Beaver township and surrounding areas.

Dan Tennyson (Lawrence Julian), genius of Johnson high school, is in serious trouble. He wants to go to college immediately because he has had no social life, his parents (Pauline Harmon and Charles Kerr) and his teacher, Miss Baker (Mary Lou Howard), and the principal, Arthur Barnard (Billy Knowlson), advise him not to go until his social life becomes more successful.

Along with being a genius and a radio star on Mr. Latherby's (Paul Walters) quiz program, he consents to tutor Puff (John Kushnierczyk), a star athlete who lacks brains. Puff's gang, Carla (Virginia Brandt), a girlfriend of Puff; Jackie (Jim Trotter) a good friend, and Linda (Peggy Crea), Dan's girlfriend, and Jeannie (Shirley Wigley) Jackie's girlfriend, are a little doubtful of Dan's teaching methods. Everything goes haywire. A reporter (Lois Perry), comes in along with a policeman (David Mack), and a psychiatrist (Eli Bianchi). But you would have to see the play to enjoy the hilarious climax.

to be sent to jail, though there was no certainty of this.

Bridges and his convicted aides—longshoremen's international vice president J. R. Robertson and union organizer Henry Schmidt—were order to appear before Federal Judge George B. Harris for sentencing at 10 o'clock Monday morning.

Each faces a maximum of seven years' imprisonment and a $15,000 fine.

In addition, the lean-featured Bridges, an international figure of controversy in and around the labor movement, faces immediate loss of his American citizenship and eventual deportation to his native Australia.

Vincent Hallinan and James Martin MacInnis, defense lawyers in the long and stormy trial, are confronted with 6-month and 3-month jail sentences respectively for contempt of court. Judge Harris imposed the sentences as soon as the jury announced its verdict.

All three defendants and both of their lawyers are free on bail. The attorneys also are appealing their contempt sentences.

Miner Is Trapped In Maryland Cave-In

LONACONING, Md., April 5.—(INS)—Rescue workers dug deep into a small western Maryland coal mine today in an attempt to save a trapped miner imprisoned by a sudden cave-in.

The victim, Harry Spiker, was trapped with his brother and son when part of the mine collapsed. The other two Spikers—Ray and Charles—were rescued unconscious.

State police from nearby Cumberland joined in the desperate attempt to bring the elder Spiker out alive.

Want A Distinguishing Shirt?

NEW YORK, April 5.—(INS)—"Dear, would you like a shirt which will distinguish a man of the world from a hotel waiter'?" I asked the head of the house.

He looked up suspiciously from his book.

"What's the matter?" he asked. "Can't you tell me from a man of the world after all these years?"

"It says right here in the paper that two Paris tailors, M. Gaston Waltener and M. Lucien Magnant, have designed a shirt for evening wear which 'distinguishes a man of the world from a hotel waiter'."

Solve Great Problems

"Gad!" said my spouse. "Gradually all the world's great problems are solved. First the split atom; now the dress shirt of distinction. Would it be asking too much to inquire how this shirt automatically achieves separation of the sheep from the goats?"

"It does it with ruffles."

"Let me get this straight. Who wears the ruffles?" my spouse demanded.

"Why, naturally, the man of the world," I replied. Waiters just go on wearing those paste board shirt fronts and celluloid collars."

"Waiters of the world, unite; you have only your boiled shirts to lose," murmurered my spouse, and added, "in the morning, remind me to go by the waiters' union and apply for a membership card."

"Don't you want to look like a man of the world"?

"Certainly. That's why I'm joining the union. The only men I know who consistent look like men of the world are waiters. Who would want to look like Anthony Eden, Dean Acheson or the Duke of Windsor if he had a chance of looking like Carino at El Morocco or Jack Spooner at the Stork Club?"

"So," said my spouse, "I will model myself on Carino, or on Pierre and Philip at '21'. If you are type-casting for man of the world, pick a waiter every time. And furthermore, don't order any ruffled shirts for me. I don't want to lose any professional status."

My spouse took a longer breath.

'Surprised At You'

"In addition, I am surprised at you," he said. "I am amazed that I should have to point out to you the essential man-of-the-world type. I distinctly remember some years ago when you went to interview Hugh Walpole on the state of English literature and wound up interviewing his butler."

"Well, the butler looked more like a man of the world than Mr. Walpole," I said defensively "and his British accent was better. And he was wearing striped pants and a cut-away coat. How did I know in those days that British authors wore baggy tweeds? And anyway, he knew almost as much about the English novel as Mr. Walpole."

"Sure, it just proves my point," the head of the house said cheerfully. "Unless you look like Bernie Baruch, any waiter or butler can spot you ten ruffled shirts and still win the man-of-the-world sweepstakes every time."

"Nuts" I countered. "You men are afraid of anything new or different. You would be afraid to wear, as those French tailors suggest, 'a deep purple set of tails with wool-covered buttons that ruffled shirt with a roomy two-tiered matching cape and top hat'."

"Afraid isn't the word for it," said my spouse. "Hell! I'd be terrified!"

"All right," I said. "What about 'a tomato-red dinner jacket in wool with red satin lapels, bow tie, ruffled shirt, black homburg with brim in matching red satin and deep lavender trousers'."

"Gad!", groaned my spouse. "And to think that I have always plugged for the Marshall Plan and spoke well of France!"

"Or perhaps for evening wear you would prefer an alternate costume consisting of 'a white linen busboy's eton jacket worn with a daytime shirt, plum-colored trousers with black braid stripe down the side and a violet sash and violet bow tie'?" I suggested.

"Leave me and my double-breasted blue serge alone," snapped the head of the house, as he retired in dignity behind his book, "and just remember I don't work for the state department!"

Fifteen States—Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Missouri, Illinois, Ohio, Kansas, North Dakota, Michigan, Indiana, South Dakota, Oklahoma, California and Washington—produce 85 per cent of the national butter supply.

Sharman Douglas To Give Up Social Whirl

LONDON, April 5.—(INS)—Sharman Douglas said today she is giving up London's gay social whirl for a job as nurse and "bottle washer" at a children's hospital. She said she hopes this will stop "all the ridiculous talk about my becoming engaged".

The name of the blonde 21-year-old daughter of U. S. Ambassador Lewis Douglas most recently has been linked romantically with that of Peter Lawford, British-born Hollywood movie star.

Only today Lawford denied a published report that he would propose to Sharman. He has just arrived from the United States.

Sharman said she starts work at the great Ormond street children's hospital and added:

"I am going to cut down on my social life drastically and begin work seriously."

TEST OLD SEED

Vegetable seed left over from last year can be used this spring if it has been properly stored. However, J. O. Dutt, extension vegetable specialist of the Pennsylvania State College, urges gardeners to run a germination test, either sowing seeds in a flat or between moist blotting paper in a tray or plate.

SMILING Lydia Linda Neubuck of Pottersville, N. Clen-Moore P.T.A. Names Delegates For Convention

Members of the Clen-Moore Parent-Teachers' Association met at the school on Tuesday evening. Delegates were elected to attend the District Convention at Washington, Pa., on April 22. Those elected were Mrs. J. C. Read, Mrs. Paul Martin, and Mrs. William Johns.

Pins will be given to the seventh and eighth grade pupils who are now at Walmo from the Clen-Moore school, and to the present sixth grade students who will be leaving the school.

Harry Heasley stated that the cub scouts will have a county fair program at the school on April 28.

A membership drive has been held, and the attendance banner will be awarded at the next meeting.

Music Program

Mrs. Fred Jenkins was in charge of the evening's program. Dale Gibson sang several numbers, accompanied by Mrs. John Robinson. Jim Maxwell presented various trombone solos, accompanied by Miss Jane Sampson.

A delicious lunch was served by the social committee, consisting of Mrs. Richard Shaw, Mrs. Roger Shaw, Mrs. Leroy Messner, Mrs. Raymond Gustafson, Mrs. Harry F. Gere, and Mrs. Albert E. Grossman. Clever Easter decorations added to the festivities.

The next meeting will be held at the school on May 2. A nomination of new officers will be held at that time.

Interest Mounting In Alliance Series

Despite the heavy rain of Tuesday evening, good interest was maintained in the evangelistic service conducted at the Alliance Gospel Tabernacle, 210 Pearson street. Rev. W. G. Weston of Elizabeth, Pa., was heard on the topic "Our Lord's Challenge to New Castle", revealing that the challenge is the need for more faith in God. Avery Rigby, Jr., favored with a vocal selection.

'A Great Transformation" is the subject for Rev. Weston's address in the church this evening. A good song service with special music will precede the sermon. The series will climax on Sunday, April 16.

GAINS INDEPENDENCE

BOSTON — A probate court judge made Donald S. Farber, 14, "head of the home" with a weekly cash budget. The court transferred the boy's custody from his mother and ordered his re-married father to give him $21 a week, consisting of $18 for board and $3 for himself.

According to a survey, substitution of silk and rayon for cottons, linens, woolens and worsted goods represents a longterm trend in the United States.

Order Changes In Advertising Of Leading Cigarettes

WASHINGTON, April 5—(INS)—The Federal Trade Commission ruled today that all leading cigarettes contain "nicotine and throat irritants" and ordered makers of Camels and Old Golds to cease "false and misleading advertising."

The "cease and desist" order is final as far as the FTC is concerned but both firms may appeal to the federal courts.

The FTC also is considering a trial examiner's recommended decision that the American Tobacco Company be ordered to stop misrepresenting Luck Strike cigarettes.

Other pending cases involve Philip Morris and Company LTD., Inc., and Pall Mall cigarettes, produced by American Cigarette and Cigar Company.

Camels are manufactured by R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company and Old Golds are produced by the P. Lorillard Company.

The FTC found that these two major cigarettes "and the smoke from them: do not, as claimed, contain less nicotine than other leading brands.

The FTC said that "the tobaccos used by the manufacturers of all the leading cigarette brands contain nicotine in substantially the same quantities and variations."

Similar findings were reported with respect to the amount of tars and resins in the leading cigarette brands. The FTC said that smoke from the leading brands contain irritants "in essentially the same quantities and degree."

Cantaloupe melons are named from Cantaloupe, Italy, where the melons were first grown in Europe.

JWV Presents Television Set For Deshon Men

Men of Ward 24, Deshon Hospital will find the hours more enjoyable in the future, due to the thoughtfulness and generosity of the men of Post 136, Jewish War Veterans.

Tuesday night a group of the members, headed by Commander Morris Becker went to the hospital and presented the television set to Director of Special Services A. Leon Nealon for use in Ward 24.

Geriatric Ward

Ward 24 is the Geriatric Ward, that is, the ward for men who by age or wasting disease are beyond medication. Here are many veterans of World War One, men who recall the Argonne and the Fisme, St. Mihiel and Belleau Woods.

For them the war has returned in the form of incapacities which can be traced back to their fighting days but which did not strike them immediately.

The television set had been set up earlier in the evening and when the JWV vets arrived the men in Ward 24 were enjoying a comedy show. What might have been another evening of boredom and brooding over their condition turned out to be an evening of enjoyment, as will many many future evenings.

Not only did the JWV vets present the ward with the television set but they distributed cigarettes to that and a number of other wards.

The group split up and the vets visited with the men who were confined in the ward. A number of New Castle and Lawrence county men were found and for half an hour or so there was a lot of visiting done.

Need More Televsion Sets

The television set presented by the JWV filled a need for the hospitalized veterans, but it only attends to one ward. A few other wards have them but most of the 24 wards are without sets. No finer gift can be made to disabled veterans than to fit out a ward with a set.

Deshon Hospital was known during the war as Hero House. Men from all theatres of war were hospitalized there. Anzio Beach, Salerno, Kassarine Pass, Burma, the South Pacific Islands, all of them were well known spots to the vets.

Visitors were many and gifts were showered upon the men who had come back from the war.

The men in Deshon today are the same type of men who were brought in during the fighting days. But today the glamour of the uniform is gone, the disaster is not so close and visitors are comparatively few.

For these reasons a television set is a fine thing to give and realizing this, the Jewish War Veterans did the thing it is hope will be done by other organizations.

DRAIN WET SPOTS

Wet spots in a field are a nuisance. Through tile drainage they can be dried up so that all the field can be plowed at the same time, reminds C. G. Burress, Penn State extension agricultural engineer, and labor will be saved.

The oldest radio network, the National Broadcasting Company, was formed on Sept. 9, 1926.

PROVIDE TELEVISION SET AT DESHON

Commander Morris Becker of the Jewish War Veterans is here shown presenting a television set to A. Leo Nealon, director of special services of Deshon hospital, for use in ward 24. In the background is Jack Gerson and next to him is Louis Steiner. Morton Love is seen talking to one of the patients. The presentation was made Tuesday night.

2 GREAT NEW GASOLINES

Atlantic's 6th improvement in 2 years . . .

its greatest anti-knock increase in history!

New White Flash! New Hi-Arc! These gasolines are good. They're the greatest we've ever made. New cars . . . old cars . . . big cars . . . little cars . . . they'll all get a break from these great new Atlantic gasolines.

Power? Both White Flash and Hi-Arc have the greatest power-potential yet. Anti-knock? Both White Flash and Hi-Arc have the highest anti-knock yet.

These great gasolines can wring every ounce of power out of any properly tuned engine. But don't kid yourself. No gasoline can get any more power out of an engine than the maker put in.

That's why we make two gasolines. No one gasoline can give maximum economy and maximum performance in all cars. That's why we say that only one of these gasolines is right for your car. Which one? Let your car decide! Here's how:

Try White Flash first. White Flash suits most cars. It costs less—but if it's right for your car it's the greatest gasoline you can buy at any price. Test White Flash for smooth acceleration on the straight-away . . . for knockless power on hills. If your car doesn't knock on White Flash you'll only waste your money on a more costly gasoline.

Try Hi-Arc next if you need to. Hi-Arc is made especially for the high requirement cars that knock on regular gasolines. It costs more—but if it's right for your car you'll get those pennies back times over in high mileage and long engine life.

New White Flash! New Hi-Arc! These great new gasolines will give top performance in any car on the road today!

Jap Romances Born At Work

TOKYO—(INS)—In Japan's big cities boy meets girl most often at the place they both work.

A scientific study of where romances are born has established that Japanese young men and women are most apt to make acquaintances in the offices, factories and other places where they are employed.

Dr. Takeo Fukuoka interviewed 1,400 young men and 747 young women to ask them where they had first met the member of the opposite sex with whom they later had become sentimentally involved.

Thirty-five per cent of the women and 30 per cent of the men questioned said it was at the places where they were working.

Cupid Friends

Next to the office or factory, the breeding ground for romance is the home of one of the individuals concerned. The percentage in this case was 20.2 for women and 15.5 for men.

The homes of mutual friends were credited with having brought together 15 per cent of both the men and women canvassed.

Another 15 per cent of the men and 12.5 per cent of the women said that friendships that had started at meetings of social or other groups to which they belonged had blossomed into romance.

Other places mentioned as conducive to romance were railway station platforms, motion picture theaters and dance halls. A few among those questioned said they had first met on a park bench or at a beach.

"Why, we never had anything like that when I was studying journalism," Perry pointed out.

Lions Club Is Host To Sons

New Castle Lions club was hosts to its sons on Tuesday, when every member brought his own son, or a son adopted for the occasion, the day being observed as fathers and sons day.

As entertainment a talking picture was shown which presented the scenes surrounding the little world's series, played between the Lockhaven and St. Petersburg, Fla., Little Baseball league teams, which was a real thriller.

The Little Baseball league is composed of boys between the ages of eight and 12 years, and their games are played on diamonds two-thirds the size of a regulation diamond, with a slightly smaller ball than that used by the big leagues. The plan was explained by County Commissioner Joseph F. Travers, who is interested in sponsoring a league locally.

The Little Baseball league originated in Williamsport, around 10 years ago and has grown until it encompasses a great many teams, particularly in the eastern section of the country.

Tribute was paid to the memory of George D. Reid, who had been an active member of the club until his death on Monday. The club went to the funeral home to pay their respects Tuesday evening.

Man Is Killed In Turnpike Crash

SOMERSET, Pa., April 5.—(INS)—One man was killed Tuesday and three were injured in a collision on the Pennsylvania turnpike near Somerset involving three trailer trucks.

The dead man was identified as Paul Henry Evans, 28, of Warrensville, Pa.

The injured are Frank Sokolovic of Munhall, Pa.; Everett Stone of Detroit, who suffered bruises, and Warren Weidman of Lebanon, who sustained head injuries.

State police said the accident occurred when the truck driven by Weidman careened into the rear of Sokolovic's truck which was parked along the highway. Sokolovic's truck was pushed into the rear of Stone's parked truck.

Denies Negligence Involved In Tragic Sanatorium Fire

PHILADELPHIA, April 5.—(INS)—The operator of Belle Vista sanatorium denied Tuesday that any negligence was involved in the tragic fire in which 10 patients perished last Wednesday.

Roland R. Randal declared that "we have always been ready and willing to cooperate with local and state officials and to maintain our institution in a completely legal manner."

Replying to statements made by Reeves H. Dengler, Springfield township fire marshal, who charged that fire hazards had existed at the sanatorium during an inspection two months ago, Randal said:

"The charges are not only loose and irresponsible, but cannot be substantiated.

"At no time prior to this unfortunate incident," Randal continued, "did he make known to us recommendations either orally or in writing, or to any state department, to our knowledge."

Randal said that on January 29, 1950, he had refused Dengler's request for employment at the 40-year-old institution.

Randal denied that Nicholas A. Verna, the inmate charged with setting the fire, had been permitted to leave the institution on the night of the fire.

Catholic Churches Are Observing Holy Week

Holy Week—The final week in Lent, and the most solemn week in the Catholic church calendar, is being observed this week by Catholics throughout the entire world.

Appropriate services have been planned in all of the local Catholic churches. These services started with the blessing of the palm branches and the distribution of palms on Palm Sunday, recalling Christ's triumphant entry into Jerusalem.

On Holy Thursday, the church commemorates the Last Supper at which our Lord instituted the sacraments of the Holy Eucharist and Holy Orders. White vestments are used to celebrate mass, because the institution of the Holy Eucharist is a joyful commemoration.

The procession held during services on Holy Thursday, commemorates our Lord's journey to the Mount of Olives after the Last Supper.

On Good Friday, the church observes the Passion and death of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ. Robes of mourning are used and it is a most sad and solemn of all days in Holy Week, and black vestments are used.

Holy Saturday at noon marks the close of the season of Lent.

Schedule Of Services

Services have been arranged in all of the Catholic churches, and the following are the schedules:

Oak Street Board To Meet Thursday

Members of the executive board of the Oak Street Parent-Teachers association will meet Thursday afternoon at one o'clock in the teachers' room of the school. This is a change of time from the usual meeting time.

ON PASSING THE BUCK

The army, particularly in the time of war, develops traits in men which in normal civilian life are not noticeable. Of such traits one most frequently met with is passing the buck.

The general passes it to the colonel, the colonel hands it down to the major. The major gives it over to the captain. The captain surrenders it (gladly) to the lieutenant who promptly gives it to the sergeant. He without reluctance gives it to the corporal and at last the boy with the gun gets it and if possible, drops and forgets it. Books could be written about the artistry developed in this practice.

In New Castle we have our share of buck-passers.

Who are they?

One group of them is that body of people who say: "Yes, I want to live in a community where there is religion. I want my children to take part in religious exercises. I would not want to live in a community where there is no church."

Brother, you are right. A community without church or religion is a poor place to live in but a poorer place to die in. Washington was right when he declared that morality without religion cannot long be sustained.

The question, however, is this: If you believe these things to be good and desirable, why do you refuse to help carry the load?

It was said in the days of the gold rush in Alaska that in making passage of the Yukon Pass, marking the dead and dying, left unburied in the snow—"Everybody hates a quitter"—the man who would not carry his share of the load.

Are you carrying your share of the load for the moral, cultural, religious life of New Castle?

City Parks Being Put Into Shape

Owen Fox, city forester, and his staff of city employees have commenced getting the city parks in shape for the summer months.

The large park near Jameson Memorial hospital, where the memorial rose beds are located, have been cleaned up and rolled. Triangle plot at the intersection of South Croton avenue and South Mill street has been reseeded and rolled. Weather permitting, work would be done today on the plots on the Diamond.

Work will begin soon on the grounds surrounding the new city building. Mr. Fox asks for the cooperation of folks by not tramping over these small areas, as it does not take much to spoil these beauty spots.

Two large flower beds will be included in the landscaping at the new city building. This work is under the supervision of Councilman Joseph Medure, city park director.

Over 90,000,000 social security cards have now been issued.

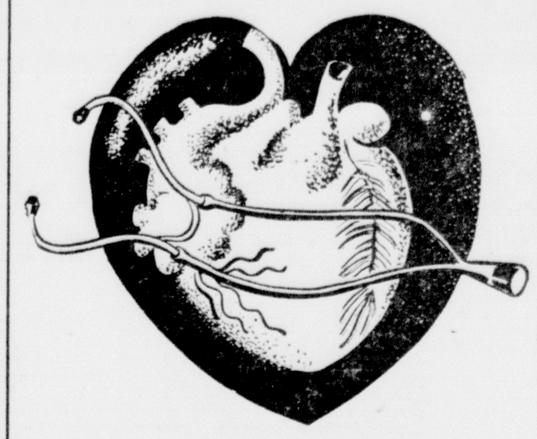

Will Distribute 11,500 Copies Of Gospel Of St. John

Thirty hospitals and 38 other institutions in Pittsburgh and western Pennsylvania, through the cooperation of the American Bible society, are distributing 11,500 copies of the "Gospel of St. John" to their patients on the breakfast trays Easter morning. Each gospel contains a greeting card calling attention to the Resurrection story.

Fox Glove Strengthens, Slows

FOLKLORE and history . . . the garden plant, Foxglove, has made both. It was dubbed Digitalis by a 16th Century herbalist, "Bloody Fingers", "Fairy Gloves" and similar imaginative names by others. In 1785, the clinical research findings of Dr. Wm. Withering of Stratford, England, brought Foxglove out of the superstitious realm of folklore and use, into scientific medical practice. He had worked for ten years on Foxglove, starting from an old Shropshire woman's locally famous remedy for Dropsy in which Foxglove was the main ingredient. Modern treatment of certain heart and cardiac disorders stems from these findings.

Today's prescriptions are written with accurate knowledge of medicinal strengths and correct dosage. To preserve this efficiency, we compound prescriptions to the very letter of your doctor's order.

Marine Corps Reserve Plans To Get Recruits

Marine Corps Reserve recruiting drive will get under way April 20 at the Shelby auditorium in Ellwood City, according to the commanding officer of the local unit, Major Robert M. White of New Castle.

The program will be inaugurated by Major H. V. Jeslin, C. O. of the northwest recruiting district, and the full recruiting staff of Pittsburgh with a medical officer.

Complete processing of applicants will take place on that date as enlistments are opened to all males between the ages 17 and 35 years. All applicants, including former Marines, are expected to report at the Shelby auditorium at 8 p. m. on April 20.

The local unit of the Marine Corps Reserve (VTU 4-12) is western Pennsylvania's first Marine Corps unit. It is being developed into an artillery company, with meetings on alternate Thursday evenings. The next meeting will be April 6 in the Shelby auditorium.

Drill Team

At present, an exhibition drill team is being created under the supervision of former Parris Island drill instructors. The drill team will be composed of men from the surrounding counties of Beaver, Butler and Mercer as well as those from Lawrence county.

The training periods for the unit utilize training films, lectures and drill periods. Motion pictures deal with various phases of military training.

Adjutant of VTU 4-12 is Lieut. Michael F. Hasback, Evans City. The acting sergeant major is Billy F. Nelson of Harmony.

Marine Corps Reserve offers an opportunity for those who have not served with the Marines to have an introduction to the traditions, aims and purposes of the Marine Corps. For those who have served, it is a continuation of their service and also adds points to a future retirement.

For further information, contact the Marine Corps recruiting station in the federal building in New Castle or the Marine recruiting station nearest you. Interested persons with transportation problems should contact Major Robert White, 422 Sumner avenue, New Castle.

Executives Club In Last Meeting

New Castle Executives Club will have its last meeting of the year on Tuesday evening, April 18, in The Castleton, when the speaker will be Carlton Smith, Director of the National Arts Foundation. Dr. J. Wesley Post, president of the club announced today.

Mr. Carleton's subject will be "Art with the hair down." Mr. Smith is one of America's foremost writers and speakers on art, for everybody. He is perhaps better described as an economist with music for a hobby, and was music editor of Esquire and Coronet magazines for eight years. He knows intimately all the current music celebrities of the world and has visited in many of their homes.

First Presbyterian Report

A bright Sunday morning brought the attendance contest of the First Presbyterian Sunday school to a high pitch, last Sunday, and after seven weeks of campaigning in the pre-Easter attendance campaign of the New Castle S. S. Supt's Council there is only a difference of 8 points between the Reds and the Blues, with the Blues having the narrow margin. While the county campaign closes with Easter Sunday, the First Presbyterian school will carry their contest through the rest of April, closing with Sunday, April 30. This week means that everyone is working to beat the other side, and with Easter coming this week-end, a record attendance is anticipated. Last Sunday saw the best attendance, both in Sunday school and at church that has been had for a long, long time. Following are the standings of the two sides by classes and departments:

Third U.P. Easter Week Plans Made

Members of Third U. P. church, East Washington at Adams street, will observe Easter week with special services. It is announced by the pastor, Dr. J. Paul Graham.

This evening at 7:30 o'clock, the pastor will speak on the subject, "The S's of Gethsemane." The Y.L.B. class of the church will have the devotional period.

On Good Friday evening, the impressive service in Scripture and song, will center around the "Good Friday in Seven Scenes." The service will get under way at 7:30 o'clock.

Easter Sunday, the services will start at 6:30 a. m., with a sunrise service with Rev. Ray A. McCreight of the Four Mile U. P. church as speaker. Following Bible school at 9:45, the morning worship period will be directed by the pastor who will use the topic, "They Have Taken Away My Lord." The choir will sing special selections and new members will be received. To climax the day, a special service in Scripture and song will be presented at 7:45 p.m., entitled, "Creation to Resurrection."

Although most of the sun's energy expended in evaporating water cannot be recovered, the amount theoretically recoverable is about 54 times our total requirements.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Joe Frisco, the stuttering comic, took an ailing friend to the hospital for a minor operation. He peered into the operating room just as the doctor placed a white cone over the girl's face. "For P-p-pete's sake," gasped Frisco, "w-w-what are you doing?" "Just giving her an anesthetic," soothed the doctor. "After she has this she won't know a thing." "You're w-w-wasting your time, doc," Frisco assured him. "That g-g-girl doesn't need it."

A new man on a building job pulled a long package out of his lunch pail and began to unwrap it. "What's that?" asked the foreman. "A pie," said the worker. "I baked it myself." "It's awfully long for a pie," observed the foreman. "Naturally," said the worker. "It's rhubarb."

A Boston lady, the variety who still referred to legs as limbs, called out to her slavey, "Bridget, did you remember to give the canary its morning bath?" "I did," replied Bridget demurely. "You may come in now, ma'am."

Get Tuberculin X-Ray Test

Every employe of the Shenango Pottery, about 3000 in all is being given the tuberulin X-ray test. Here is shown James Hann, technician of Trenton, N. J., taking a chest picture of George Woryk, of the Drying Kiln department.

All employes of the Shenango Pottery are being X-rayed for possible signs of tuberculosis.

Sponsored by the Lawrence County Tuberculosis Society two technicians are engaged in making X-ray pictures of the chest cavities of the 3,000 or more employes. The tests are being financed by the company.

One of the rooms in the outer office building has been taken over with Mrs. Jane Cochran, executive secretary of the local chapter of the Anti-Tuberculosis Society registering the names of each employe.

The employes then are placed in front of the X-ray camera and the two technicians, James Hann and Earl Lambert take the photograph of the chest cavities.

Thousands of such X-ray pictures have been made of citizens in New Castle and the pottery felt it was a preventative step which might save employes time and sickness if the tests were made now.

Wolves Hear Howard Klebe

County Detective Tells F.B.I. History

County Detective Howard Klebe spoke about the history of the F.B.I. Tuesday evening, when he addressed the Wolves club at their dinner-meeting at The Castleton.

Introduced by President Anthony Marino, Mr. Klebe said that the F.B.I. started in 1908. Between 1909 and 1920, there were 400 agents working for the F.B.I. The number of agents was increased to 5,000 during the war. At present, he stated, there are approximately 4,000 agents.

The F.B.I. is now confined to criminal investigation. The method of operation depends on the jurisdiction, he said. Successes of the F.B.I. have depended upon two divisions of the F.B.I., the fingerprinting, and laboratory work which started in 1932 and the training of the agents. There are 120,000,000 prints in the F. B. I. files today, of which about 2,000,000 are criminals.

Mr. Klebe was emphatic when he told the men that the F.B.I. is a non-political organization. He conducted an interesting question and answer period afterwards and explained the difference between the F.B.I. and the Secret Service.

President Marino conducted business and delegates from Ellwood Den No. 2, headed by President Andrew Biordi, were welcomed. The usual bowling sessions took place at the close of the program. April 18, is the next meeting.

Plans Progress For Banquet Of Catholic Vets

At a special Tuesday evening session, further plans were made for the second annual banquet of the New Castle Catholic War Veterans Post 741, at the Cathedral, Saturday, April 15.

Thus far indications point to a crowd of over 1,000 to attend. Activities will start with a dinner at 6 p.m., to be followed by a speaking program of nationally known speakers. The principal speaker of the evening will be chief of public relations in western Europe, Joseph Costanza of Washington, D. C.

Eugene Taggart, national executive officer will be the master of ceremonies. In addition, there will be other speakers attending, including Rev. Fr. Albert M. Inteso, chaplain of Post 741.

According to an announcement by Commander Edward DeCarbo, all commanders of veterans organizations in Lawrence county have been extended an invitation to attend. Also the recruiting staff of the Army, Navy and Marines; and the members of the clergy in Lawrence county.

Commander Edward DeCarbo who has headed Post 741 for the past two years will be honored on this occasion. He is the second vice commander of the state; and also has assumed responsibilities as national welfare officer. Since in charge of the Post, the local Post has become the largest Post in the state and it is with due credit that the Commander will be honored at this time.

Miss Angeline Venditto is the president of the Veterans Auxiliary. The Auxiliary under the direction of Mrs. Clotilda Ross will have charge of the dinner. A committee will assist her. After the speaking program a dance will be held.

First almanac in America was published by William Pierce in 1639.

Chops Up $15 Billion In U.S. Paper Currency

Paul Gauthier's machine slices 4,000 bank notes at a stroke.

By JOHN GOETTE
(Central Press Correspondent)

NEW YORK—Wholesale mutilation of the finely engraved likeness of such venerated Americans as Washington, Lincoln, Hamilton, Jefferson, Grant and Jackson would be highly unpatriotic—and expensive—for any other than Paul Gauthier.

For 19 years he has officiated as callous headsman in the "Chop House" of the Federal Reserve bank of New York. There his deadly cancelling machine has guillotined the portraits of our national heroes on some 4,000,000,000 soiled bank notes.

In his steel barred, heavily guarded cancelling and cutting section of the Federal Reserve bank, Gauthier lowers his sharp blade on 4,000 bank notes at a stroke, cutting them into two sections with equal ease regardless of whether they are one dollar or one thousand dollar denominations.

More than $15,000,000,000 is a modest estimate of the total legal tender Gauthier has first perforated with four diamond shaped holes and then severed in two. This is over one half of the $27,000,000,000 worth of greenbacks currently tucked in American wallets.

One function of the Federal Reserve bank is to keep the nation supplied with crisp new bills. Withdrawn notes are hauled to Gauthier by the hand-truckload and his murderous skill speeds 300,000 of them to oblivion every working hour.

Uncle Sam is not one to take risks with his gigantic bank roll even after this ruthless Federal Reserve headsman has slit the notes in two.

The bank cautiously ships the top and lower sections by separate train to the Treasury in Washington for final destruction.

In Gauthier's money-sated eyes even the $1,000 bills doomed to his destructive attention are like dirty old newspapers. As for mere dollar bills, he yearly stacks 193,000,000 of them on his guillotine.

Indicative of the money handling habits of the American is the ratio of other bills which Gauthier cancels.

Fives reach his Chop House at about 46,000,000 yearly while twenties are soiled to the cancelling point at but 12,000,000 a year.

A brighter side of Gauthier's daily task of running through Uncle Sam's bank roll is his execution of the two-dollar bills which so often misguide the man in the street into spending them as ones.

Gauthier considers it an especially worthy public service as his trusty blade annually puts an end to the circulation of some 3,000,000 of these confusing twos.

READING, Pa., April 5.—(INS)—Six fire companies were "burning" last night while a spectacular fire raged through the structure of the Modern Iron Works in Reading.

The firefighters sat helpless in their trucks watching flames shooting skyward while waiting for a long, slow freight train to rumble by so they could get across to the scene on the other side of the tracks.

Shenango Pottery Salesman In Conference

Salesmen of the Shenango Pottery Company are in the plant here for a three day sales conference which opened Tuesday.

From the east, the south and the far west, the men are in, conferring with Louis G. Rudesill, sales manager for the company. One sales representative is from Paris, France, so that the conference has summed an international flavor.

The men in the group are the men who carry the trademark of the Shenango Pottery over the world. When you see Shenango China on a plate or cup or saucer in hotels, clubs, dining cars, ships and restaurants wherever you happen to be, it is there because of the sales work of the men in at the conference.

James M. Smith, Jr., president of the plant, G. Browne Zahniser, executive vice president and other executives of the company addressed the group today.

During the conference problems of the industry will be discussed, sales methods talked over and plans to expand the sale of Shenango china stressed.

From vocations to vacations is the trend at Geneva college. Classes halted for the spring recess and will resume Wednesday, April 12. Highlight of the final day was the vocational guidance program which brought 16 leaders in various professions to the campus.

Seniors Prep For Final Days At Senior High

For New Castle High seniors, it's later than you think.

It will be all over in two months and 12 long years schooling will have been completed.

Right now the seniors are as busy as a centipede with a dose of athletes feet.

Miss Ruth Wallace of the home economics department supervised the measuring of some 560 students for caps and gowns. Dinks, ties and pennants have been ordered. Dues are paid and name cards are on the way.

Numerous committees are so busily preparing for class day, baccalaureate, commencement and the dinner-dance that hardly a member can afford to have spring fever.

Rev. Jones To Speak

The seniors have already selected Rev. Thomas J. Jones to be their baccalaureate minister. The commencement speaker will be announced in a few days. Idora park is the scene of the class picnic after the class day activities at senior high. A medieval castle has been selected as the theme for the program.

The schedule of events this year is back to normal because of the shorter Easter vacation. Class day is Friday, May 26; baccalaureate is Sunday, May 28; commencement is Monday, May 29, and the dinner-dance is Wednesday, May 31.

It is anticipated that "Lucky Fifty" the class' toy-dog mascot, and Charles Mancine, the class president, will return in the near future. The dog has been missing for several months from the doghouse, class supervisor Donald Copson's cupboard. The president has been in the hospital recovering from a knee operation to correct a football injury. Other class officers are Gaylord McKissick, vice-president; Chris Mitsos, treasurer, and Jean Derr, secretary.

Ginsberg, has earned a wide circle of friends in her home town as well as the other cities where she has played, through her pleasing personality and musical talent.

Program

Local music lovers are keenly awaiting this musical treat and will be thrilled with the selections Miss Fisher has chosen for this concert in the following program:

1. "Sonata No. 23 in F Minor Opus 57" (Appassionata) ..... Beethoven

Around Hollywood

By FRANK NEILL

(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, April 5.—Janis Carter, the blonde with the "million dollar eyes," the "sexiest eyes in the world," the "orchid eyes" and the "Chameleon eyes," stared deepy today into my own red-rimmed optics and asked:

"Would you care for a drink?"

"Oh, no, thank you," I said. "The smog is what causes my eyes to smart."

"Don't touch the stuff myself, either," said Miss Carter, a babe who also is renowned as owning the "fifty million dollar figure."

Cozy Set-Up

Boy, it was a cozy set-up. The two of us, alone in the snug apartment, sitting there beside each other on a king-size couch munching pumpkin seeds.

"I painted the joint myself," said the statuesque star, making small-talk. "All seven rooms. The studio mixed the paint for me and loaned me stepladders and brushes and tarpaulins. Nobody believes me when I swear that I painted every inch of the place."

"It matches your eyes," I said, reaching for another handful of pumpkin seeds and gazing at Miss Janis Carter, who is five-feet eight inches tall and who never weighs over 125 pounds even if she does possess the appetite of a team of dray horses.

Husband Barges In

The front door opened. In barged a big guy who said "Hi," and walked across to Miss Carter and prompty planted a big smooch on her lips.

"This is my husband," said Janis. "Carl C. Prager. We've been married for ten years. He's a musical contractor."

Well, he was sure big enough to build buildings, I thought, as he disappeared into another part of the apartment.

After college Janis went to New York to try for the Metropolitan opera. While waiting for an audition she wound up in radio and modeling. She was one of the six original Conover cover gals and also was writing scripts for "Gang Busters" and "We the People."

She landed a solo singing role on Broadway in "Dubarry Was a Lady," won the lead in "Panama Hattie" and then Hollywood came after her waving a contract and a ball-point pen.

She starred in a flock of Columbia pictures, but Howard Hughes bought half her contract the other day after having borrowed Janis for "The Woman on Pier 13" and "Carriage Entrance."

Her eyes? The peepers were insured for one million clams after "Framed" was released and the National Association of Optometrists had dubbed them "the sexiest eyes in the world."

"They're generally an orchid color," said Janis, "but they're supposed to change tint depending upon the surroundings."

PLANT ASPARAGUS

If you are planning to plant asparagus this spring, use either the Mary Washington or Martha Washington variety. Penn State extension vegetable specialists recommend using 1-year-old plants and planting early about 8 inches deep.

State's Offer To Michelosen Matter Of Wishful Thinking

PITTSBURGH, April 5—(INS)—Dr. Carl P. Schott, director of athletics at Penn State, apparently will move to satisfy Pittsburgh district alumni sometime this week and discuss the Penn State football coaching vacancy with Johnny Michelosen.

Whether Schott, who also is Dean of Physical Education at the State School, will offer the job to Michelosen, who coaches the Pittsburgh Steelers, was not known. Observers thought it unlikely.

They interpret Schott's telephone call yesterday to Steeler President Art Rooney, requesting permission to speak with Michelosen, merely a move to hush Pittsburgh grads who endorsed Michelosen for the post vacated by Joe Bedenk last month.

Shoe On Other Foot

Reportedly the Penn State football job will pay $6,000 yearly, although this has not been confirmed by Schott. Michelosen, youngest head coach in pro ranks at 32, signed a two-year contract with the Steelers at the end of last season. His yearly salary has been estimated at $12,000.

Rooney, in granting Schott permission to take over the proposition with Michelosen, quipped to newsmen:

"The pros usually are accused of tampering with colleges. This time the college is tampering with us."

Globetrotters Take Series Lead

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 5.—(INS)—The Harlem Globetrotters took a 2-to-1 lead last night in their "World Series of Basketball" with a 69-to-60 victory over the College All-Stars before 12,000 Indianapolis fans.

The Globetrotters led 42-25 at halftime.

SHAMROCKS MEET TONIGHT

East Side Shamrocks will hold another important business meeting tonight at 821 Morton street at 8 o'clock.

Softball players and new softball players are urged to attend to select uniforms, and take additional measurements. Plans for a golf team will also be discussed and a club party formulated.

PGA Planning For Showdown

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 5—(INS)—The Professional Golfer's Association is planning a showdown with its "big name" players in Augusta Monday after the Masters Tournament but is not sure if its headline stars will show up.

PGA President Joe Novack has called a meeting between the group's executives and tournament players' committee to settle the differences which nearly caused a revolt by the golfers.

Schneiter Out

George Schneiter was the PGA's tournament bureau manager and also the spokesman for the disgrunted players until Monday. He definitely is no longer an employe of the PGA and may not be a representative of the golfers either. But the 38-year-old Ogden, Utah, professional said:

"I don't believe the tournament committee of players will attend any meeting without me."

He said that he has received no invitation to attend the session. However, eleven other golfers were asked to be at the meeting.

Pittsburgh, given a good year and quite a few breaks, hopes to edge back into the first division. But if anything happens to keep Kiner sidelined for an appreciable length of time, the Pirates are last-place candidates.

Tigers Have Won Four Games From Yanks This Spring

Rally Provides 6 To 4 Victory

Cardinals Edge Boston Braves

(By International News Service)

Red Rolfe, the old Yankee, appears to be holding some sort of hex over his former mates this spring. Rolfe's Detroit Tigers took their fourth game from the New York regulars yesterday, 6 to 4, at St. Petersburg, Fla.

The Bengals had to overcome a 4 to 0 deficit and a five inning whitewash job by lefty Ed Lopat, but they rose to the occasion.

Detroit rallied for three runs in the eigth inning off rookie Don Johnson. A triple steal provided the winning run. Earlier in the game, Joe DiMaggio had tagged a three-run homer for the world champions.

Cards Top Braves

The Boston Braves rallied for three runs in the ninth at Bradenton but fell one short and lost to the St. Louis Cardinals, 7 to 6.

The Cardinals jumped to a 6 to 0 advantage in the first three innings aided by a couple of errors by Tommy Holmes, a transplanted outfielder playing first base. A triple by Solly Hemus and Chuck Diering's infield hit provided what proved to be the winning run for the Redbirds in the ninth.

In San Antonio, Tex., the Giants dropped their fifth straight. The Cleveland Indians scored a run in the ninth to win out 7 to 6. Dave Koslo went all the way for the New Yorkers. A two-run homer by Bill Rigney highlighted a five run Giant rally in the fifth.

The Phillies, Athletics, and their games with Minor League opposition cancelled by rain.

In games under the stars deep in the heart of Texas, Brooklyn topped Houston 8 to 2, Austin beat the White Sox 6 to 5, and the Cubs downed the Browns 4 to 2.

Church Golfers To Start May 4

Castle Hills Course Will Be Utilized

New Castle church golf league held its first meeting of the 1950 season at the Castle Hills club house last night and set up plans to start the league Thursday, May 4th with the same eight teams as last year.

President Al Figuly conducted the meeting, with Jimmy Dart as secretary. It was voted to continue play at the Castle Hills course due to the excellent treatment that the league has always received from the Castle Hills management, down through the years.

Play Two Halves

The league will again play two halves, the winners of the first half, meeting the second half winners, for the loop championship.

An interesting item for the church league this year will be a special event listed for the time between halves.

The next meeting of the league will be held at the Castle Hills golf course club house at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday, April 25th. All rosters of the teams must be handed in at the next meeting.

County Nines Start April 10

Lawrence county high school baseball teams open their 1950 league season Monday, April 10.

The full card that day finds New Wilmington at Mt. Jackson, Bessemer at East Brook, and Shenango at Union.

Bad weather and poor playing conditions on all fields has hampered pre-league practice. Several teams have had batterymen working out inside but few clubs have been able to stage more than one or two full sessions outside. Some teams have had no outdoor drill as yet.

Shenango Defending Champs

Defending champion Shenango rates the favorite role on paper again this year. Coach Nahas Wildcats have been dogged by bad luck in both football and basketball. The breaks may go Shenango's way this spring but if the Wildcats fold it should be a wide-open battle.

Shenango won the crown by whipping Bessemer 9 to 2 in a playoff game at Union high. The contenders had finished their regular season with an identical 8 and 2 record.

There are 23 sections in WPIAL baseball and 121 participating teams. The county teams are in section 8.

West Deere who beat Shenango in the first inter-sectional playoffs was runner up to the championship Vandergrift nine in the finals. There is no class A or class B in the WPIAL baseball.

East Brook Joins

East Brook is a newcomer to the diamond ranks this season and this entry makes the baseball league team roster identical with Section 24 in basketball.

The addition of the seventh team will make some teams play as many as three games a week and will find all club short on starting hurlers.

SCOTT NINE TO MEET

Scott entry in the City Softball League will meet Wednesday and Thursday evening of this week at Gaston Park for a practice session at 5:30.

If weather is not suitable for practice a meting for uniform measurement will be held at 110 S. Mercer street at eight o'clock on Thursday evening.

Lindy Lauro Inks Cardinal Contract

Lindy Lauro, former New Castle high fullback and a member of the University of Pittsburgh football squad for the last four years has been signed to a pro contract by the Chicago Cardinals.

Lauro was a teammate of Charley Trippi while serving with the Third Air Force in 1944. He threw the touchdown pass in 1937 that enabled New Castle high to defeat Massilon, 7 to 0, and end a long winning streak for the Tigers coached by Paul Brown.

Cadet Tourney Quarter Finals Slated Tonight

Quarter finals in the YMCA cadet basketball tournament get underway tonight with three games on the card.

Gersons' meet LePores' at 6:30. Lighthouse takes on Phillips at 7:30, and Scotties meet Shenango Y at 8:30.

Kaufman's made the semi-final bracket last night by downing Potter's 50 to 43. Boyd and McGinnis had 14 each for the victorious New Wilmington quint.

LePores' erased Ecclisians, 41 to 21. Charles and Fiorent had 11 each for LePores'.

Shenango Y took the measure of Terrace with a 35 to 26 win. Craine and Johnson paced the winners.

Scotties whipped VFW 32 to 22. McPheeters hooped 11 for the Scottie quint.

City Loop Opens Season May 7

Each Team To Play 36 Games

It was decided at the City Baseball league season held last night at Carm DeLeon's, West Washington street, that the season would open May 7, and that each of the 10 teams in the circuit would play 36 games.

Among other decisions arrived at was one which will result in a trophy being awarded to the team which wins the pennant, before the play-off occurs.

Lawrence County Umpires association submitted a proposition to the league. The proposition was given to a committee for study, and report to the main body of managers, for final decision.

Canadiens Defeat New York Rangers

MONTREAL, April 5.—(INS)—The Montreal Canadiens thanked Elmer Lach today for keeping them in the Stanley Cup race.

Lach, with a blasting shot into the corner of the net during a sudden-death overtime period, gave the Canadiens a 3-to-2 victory last night over the New York Rangers. At present, the New York squad holds a 3-to-1 lead in the best of seven series to determine one of the finalists for the coveted hockey trophy.

The Canadiens and the Rrange will meet again Thursday night. All remaining games will be played in Montreal.

Stockholders Meet Tonight

Certificates Will Be Ready

All interested stockholders of the New Castle Senators baseball team, will have a meeting at the New Penn hotel at 8 o'clock tonight, for the purpose of picking up their stock certificates.

President Al Scarazzo will conduct the meeting along with Secretary Anthony Conn of the Citizens Baseball Inc. The stockholders will be brought up to date on what has been taking place to get them a winning team this year. The outlook this year is very encouraging for a first division fighting ball club.

The team will leave Sunday April 16th for Greencastle, Pa., for a two weeks training jaunt. About 35 players will be taken to camp.

Groundskeeper Carl (Buffalo) Cialella has already started to work to get P. J. Flaherty Memorial Field in shape for May 2 exhibition game with the famous Homestead Grays. The league starts May 5.

Oakland Sportsmen To Meet Tonight

There will be a monthly meeting of the Oakland Sportsmen club at the club house tonight at 8 o'clock it was announced by President Frank Zajac. Every member should make it a point to be present, as final reports of the wild life and fish committees will be made and new committees named by President Zajac.

Luke Appling, who played a major league record of 2,198 games at shortstop for the Chicago White Sox, is working out at first base for the first time in his life and says "It feels like I'm playing with a boxing glove."

NCAA Head Recommends Sanity Code Changing

CHICAGO, April 5.—(INS)—The president of the National Collegiate Athletic Association hinted today that the south has won its long, loud battle to change the sanity code.

NCAA chieftain Hugh C. Willett of Southern California recommended that the code, which governs financial aid to athletes, be changed.

Willett's statement could be the tipoff that the southern, southeastern and southwestern conferences will be granted their demands to increase the help to athletes.

The NCAA limits aid to tuition and one meal a day during the season of the sport. Southern institutions want a training table of three meals a day.

Few Opportunities

Representatives of those schools point out that few job opportunities exist for athletes in small southern campus towns. Delegates from military school also maintain that they should be placed in a special category since their heavy schedule of class work and drills do not give an athlete time for outside work.

Representatives of 19 athletic conferences are scheduled to discuss the code at meetings in Chicago today and tomorrow.

In yesterday's session, the 1951 NCAA boxing tournament was awarded to Michigan State in East Lansing for next April 5-7.

The site of the 1951 basketball championship will be announced today. According to reports, the tournament will be held at the University of Minnesota instead of New York's Madison Square Garden.

The Pennsylvania State College student newspaper today is thumping for a new football policy to caterpault the Nittany Lions to the gridiron heights attained in post-war years.

Reese Refuses To Play Third

'I'll Stay Right Where I Belong'

DALLAS, April 5.—(INS)—The time may come when Peewee Reese will have to step down to third base but the Brooklyn Dodger captain thinks that day is a long way off.

You have to hit a million to get $35,000 for playing third base. That might well have been the thought on Reese's mind last night at Houston when Manager Barney Shotton suggested it might be easier on Peewee's legs if he played third base.

The captain shook his head a firm no, leaving no doubt in Shotton's mind that he still considered himself the Dodger shortstop and quite capable of playing the position.

Pulled Muscle

Undoubtedly aware of the speculation on Bobby Morgan taking his job if his underpinning continued to bother him, Reese said that his legs felt much better and that if he could play at all shortstop would be just as easy as third base.

"It's not the same trouble I had last year," said Reese.

"The hernia operation took care of that. I merely pulled a muscle last Saturday night but I feel much better and I'll play."

New Orleans Is Well Set

Pelicans Need Only One Pirate Rookie

NEW ORLEANS, April 5.—(INS)—The New Orleans Pelicans of the Southern Association will only be able to use one Pirate rookie.

Following a conference among Manager Hugh Luby of the Pelicans, General Manager Roy Hamey and Pirate Manager Bill Meyer it was decided most young Pirate farm hands will be sent to Indianapolis of the American Association.

The Pelicans are expected to get either Pitcher Pete Modica or Infielder Pete Merson.

Indianapolis, which won the little world series title last season, needs reinforcements.

The Pirates play the Pelicans in an exhibition game tonight.

Dr. David Tracy, the St. Louis Browns' new psychologist, isn't talking "pennant" for the perennial second division American leaguers, but he predicted today that the Brownies of 1950 will have "confidence".

HERE and THERE IN SPORTS LAND

TIME WAITS ON NO MAN, and as one ages, he some times pauses to look back over his trail, only to discover that time has obliterated his foot prints, and all that remains are memories of days that once were. Some bring a smile, others a sigh, and there is no escaping the fact that time catches up to everyone, regardless of the sphere he once occupied.

Stars of yesteryear become the nobodies of today because a new star is born, or the old axiom: "The King Is Dead, Long Live The King!" Their feats are only recallable through record books, and many a brilliant athlete of yesteryear who was cheered by the mob, now ekes out a livelihood through tasks he would never have suspected possible in his heyday.

Consider the plight of Sam Langford, the Boston "Tar Baby", one of the greatest heavyweight boxers of all-time. No doubt, punches helped to induce blindness. He is living in a New York room off funds raised by sportswriters and friends. Wonder what are his thoughts when he recalls his ring triumphs, when money was fruitful, and his "friends", legion?

And then there is Grover Cleveland Alexander, one of the Greats of the Baseball world. As a pitcher, he was tops. Nowadays, he is afflicted with an incurable ailment, and is said to be in need in a California hospital. Recall Hack Wilson, the Chicago slugger? He met with adversity he could not conquer, and passed away several years ago.

Not all the Athletic Heroes of Yesteryear peered into the future and saved for a rainy day. Like the majority of athletes, being youthful, they were carefree, prolific with spending, and shoved worry into the background. Some of them didn't obtain advice as did Dempsey, Tunney and a few others.

On the brighter side of the picture of Yesteryear one can point to Jack, the Manassa Mauler. Through either his own thinking or advice of firm friends, he need not fear a wolf baying at his door. Gene Tunney is another who is a millionaire, while Billy Conn recently came into being as a rich man.

Chuck Drazenovich, Penn State heavyweight, a protege of the late Leo Houck, former Lancaster, Pa., middleweight, and light-heavyweight, won the NCAA heavyweight championship recently at State College. Eddie Sulk, former Pittsburgh fighter, is now Nittany Lions boxing instructor. . . . Mention of Drazenovich, recalls Steve Hamas, formerly of Penn State, who turned professional. He had a good career until he developed a "trick knee", and in a fight with Max Schmeling was severely battered in Germany. . . . Is Billy Pozza, Ellwood City heavyweight "going to seed?" A few fights a year are not enough to keep his hitting eye accurate. With Elkins Brothers engaged for an invasion of Europe, likelihood of a Pozza-Brothers battle seems far distant. . . . City Baseballers are hoppin' to it. Althought disappointed last season because his Grillers didn't finish farther toward the front, Tom Frank has hopes of better things in 1950. The 229th FA will replace the Dewey A.C. . . . Shenango Valley Club beaglers feel quite proud of having won both 13 and 15-inch classes in the West Penn association meet at Export. . . . Joe Rick is jogging his trotters and pacers at the Rick Stock farm daily. Last Sunday quite a crowd appeared to watch 'em round the half mile oval.

Penn State Center of DuBois won the Allegheny Mountain association junior wrestling meet at Pittsburgh. Waynesburg finished second and Canonsburg placed third. . . . Keith Nicolla of Conneautville, Pa., may twirl for Erie Sailors who are training at Sanford, Fla. He has been working out with the Class A Sioux City Soos of the Western league. . . . Franklin B.P.O.E. won the Franklin Elks floor tournament. . . . District Attorney Clyde Shumaker of Butler county, is well versed in outdoor life and qualified to deliver the principal address at the Sportsman's council banquet, in the Cathedral, April 13. . . . Claude Patton, former cinder-pather, and ex- Reick outfielder, apparently is as spry as ever. Another member of that outfield was Tommy O'Brien. . . . How many recall when Billy Nye of Ellwood City batted 'em far for local teams? Another star of yesteryear who comes to mind is Lefty Williams, pitcher, and when the late Luby Richards hit one, 'he hit one!" . . . Longest marathon twirling contest here, in Here & There's recollection was the 16-inning tie between Joe Hartman and Paul McCullough. . . . "Bama", who boxed under the alias 'Frankie Landis', and whose correct name is Frank Acquiviva, was a fairly good preliminary boy. . . . The 'Young Cangie' who boxed several times in the Arena, is a second cousin of Paris Cangie, in his day known as "Poison Drop." . . . Apparently the Two Kroesens, Dick and Don, are following in the footsteps of their father, "Scrappy", who was an infielder for the Terrace A.C. His eldest son, Ralph, played some games in the North County loop last season.

Barons-Caps Clash Tonight

(By International News Service)

The Cleveland Barons send their record-breaking offense against the American Hockey League's top goalie tonight when they battle the Indianapolis Caps in the first round of the championship playoffs at Cleveland.

The first two games of the best-of-seven series for the loop's Calder cup trophy will be played in Cleveland tonight and Saturday. The third and fourth games will be at Indianapolis Sunday and Thursday, April 9 and 13.

If more games are needed to settle the series, the fifth contest is set for Cleveland on April 8, the next for Indianapolis the following day and the seventh game at Cleveland again.

SPORT SHORTS

The Indians' pitching staff, led by 20-game winner Bob Lemon, sophomore Mike Garcia and veteran Bob Feller, ranks with the best in either league. Bolstering the starters are Early Wynn, Al Benton, Sam Zoldak, Steve Gromek and a promising rookie named George Zuverink.

Big Jim Leonard scorned Villanova's critics today and flatly stated his football players will continue to receive free room, board, books and tuition.

Penn State soccer coach Bill Jeffrey and wrestling coach Charlie Speidel now share the mantle formerly worn by R. B. (Pop) Rutherford.

New Castle defeated Harrisburg Tech by identical scores, 13-0, in 1924 and 1925.

WATCH WHITE SOX? - - By Alan Maver

Marty Marion's highest batting average in the majors was .280 in 1942. He annually hits about 30 extra base blows.

Bobo Newsome led the Southern Association in strikeouts last year by whipping 141 while pitching for Chattanooga.

Isn't Dumb Either

Berra Not Much On Looks, Becoming Feared Catcher

ORLANDO, Fla., April 5.—(INS)—The fireplug with ears that plays catcher for the world champion Yankees probably will never make any all-star quiz team.

But Lawrence P. (Yogi) Berra rates mighty high on Casey Stengel's hit parade because of his proficiency with a Louisville Slugger.

Yogi's strongpoint is that he hits a baseball better than the average player. And the 5-8 backstop, who resembles a character from out of prehistoric times with all his catching equipment on, is counted on to drive in runs. He does this with child-like glee.

"I'm gonna have a great year," says Yogi confidently. "If I wasn't hurt last year, I coulda driven in over 100 runs and woulda hit over .300."

No More Thefts

As it turned out, Berra batted in 91 runs and hit .277, including 20 home runs, although he was sidelined for a time with a broken thumb.

Before last season Yogi found it difficult to make the throw to second base without getting his centerfielder in on the play. Under the tutelage of coach Bill Dickey, however, the 25-year-old Yogi began to come of age as a catcher.

His catching improved and runners stopped having field days when he was behind the plate.

Isn't Dumb

His teammates insist that Yogi isn't "dumb", just naive. At spring training last year Berra was given a room that contained a Murphy bed.

He reportedly phoned Yankee road secretary Frank Scott and complained:

"Hey, Frank, there ain't no bed in this room."

Scott knew the score and told Yogi to open a door in his room that looked like a closet. Inside, Scott explained, was Yogis' bed.

The catcher did as he was told and sure enough there was the Murphy bed propped up against the wall.

He made a hurried call back to Scott.

"I found my bed okay," he said, "but how I gonna sleep standing up."

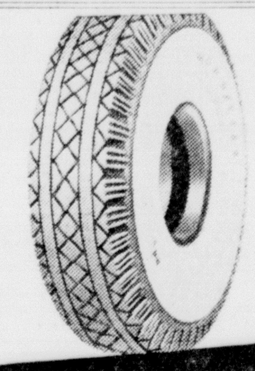

Berra is an ardent reader. He never misses an issue of any of the comic books. Once, he noticed Bobby Brown, the Yankee medical student, reading a medical book.

"Lemme know how it comes out, Bobby," he implored.

Naturally, Yogi is the fall guy for every practical joker on the team and is the bench jockey's premier target.

But there is nothing jocular about the way he can hit. And at the plate Berra commands the respect that is his due—as one of the best hitting players in the game.

Does Not Believe 'Flying Saucer' Is In Existence

WASHINGTON, April 5.—(INS)—Defense Secretary Johnson said today he does not believe there is any such thing as a "flying saucer" nor does he think that any foreign submarine has been sighted off the West Coast.

The defense chief tolds a news conference that he has talked with the armed forces policy board about the "flying saucer" mystery and that there is no military development now under way that would fit the description of the weird missiles.

Johnson added that as far as the submarine scare is concerned, "no intelligence on this has reached my desk and it certainly would have if there had been any substance to the report."

The experts say it is possible for a hen to lay two eggs in the same day, although she generally lays only one.
